UNDER THE ARMISTICE ALLIED WARSHIPS GO THROUGH DARDANELLES

Alexandretta Occupied by British Naval Forces; German Socialists and Independent Socialists Keep Bourgeoisie Representatives Out of Cabinet

London, Nov. 12.—Allied warships have entered the Dardanelles and British naval forces have occupied Alexandretta. (The city of Alexandretta is in Syria, N.E. of the Island of Cyprus.)

Copenhagen, Nov. 11.—Via London, Nov. 12.—Germany's new Provisional Government will be all Red, that is to say, the Bourgeoisie parties will not be represented in it. They will not be, not because of their unwillingness to participate, but the Socialists definitely refused to permit Bourgeoisie representatives to enter the Government.

The plan is to give the Independent Socialists the Vice-Chancellorship and two other secretarial positions. There are indications, however, that Independent Socialists will demand more.

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—The German Socialists and Independent Socialists, have reached an agreement to form a joint Cabinet from both parties, the Wolff Bureau reports. This Cabinet, it is said, consists of Philipp Scheidemann, vice-president of the Reichstag; Landsburg, a member of the Reichstag; and Herr Geitert, Socialists, and Hugo Haase, Richard Barth, editor of the Vorwaerts, and William Dittmann, a member of the Reichstag, Independent Socialists.

Revolution Spreads.
London, Nov. 12.—Everywhere in Germany the momentum of the revolution which swept the old regime out of power seems to be increasing. There are evidences of friction between the military authorities and the Soldiers' and Workmen's Councils in many towns in Northern Germany, the authority of the latter being questioned. It is reported that civil administrations have been provisionally organized where there is any danger of a conflict between the parties.

London, Nov. 12.—The Government yesterday decided to suspend recruiting.

LOCAL SITUATION SUMMED UP BY CHAIRMAN AS CAMPAIGN CLOSES

With the end of the Victory Loan campaign now in sight, R. F. Taylor, Island Chairman, this morning summed up the situation in the following statement to The Times:

"Greater Victoria, with an estimated population of 75,000, was allotted a quota of Four Million Dollars, and an Objective of Five Million Dollars to raise. To date Greater Victoria, including the investment of the municipalities and certain large subscriptions now being put through, has reached her quota of Four Million Dollars, not including the Provincial Government's subscriptions, and it is expected that the objective of Five Million Dollars will be reached by the end of the campaign next Saturday, from the subscriptions actually received from corporations, companies and residents of the territory comprising Greater Victoria, without including the Provincial Government. This is the aim of the Committee, and it means an increase of One Million Three Hundred Thousand over the 1917 campaign. It must be borne in mind that the territory included in the 1918 campaign is smaller than that of the 1917, as the latter comprised the whole territory north to, and including Duncan.

"The Island reports are extremely satisfactory. The objective of the Island is $1,000,000, and to date the actual subscriptions amount to $900,000. Before the campaign is closed the Island districts will reach and largely exceed their objectives.

"Reports from a number of other points in the Province indicate a large over-subscription, as compared with 1917, and there is no reason to doubt but that Greater Victoria will show a like result. The Province as a whole has already reached twenty-one million dollars up to Saturday night. The objective was originally twenty-five million dollars, the aim is now twenty-seven million dollars, and Greater Victoria is asked to do its share in securing that amount.

"The whole success of the campaign depends upon the people themselves. The canvassers cannot possibly reach everyone. Ample facilities are available at all the Banking Offices, and at the Victory Loan Headquarters, 614 View Street, for all of those who have not yet subscribed or wish to again do so."

Canada's Casualties Between 210,000 and 215,000 Men

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—In the awful conflict that ended yesterday, Canada's glorious effort cost heavily in loss of life and limb. Up to and including October 31, the latest figures available, Canada's total casualties were 211,358, divided as follows: Killed in action, 34,877; died of wounds or disease, 15,477; wounded, 152,779; presumed dead, missing and prisoners of war, 8,245.

DEMANDS SUBMITTED TO VON HINDENBURG

German Troops at Front Form Soldiers' Council; Mutiny in Belgium

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—Via London, Nov. 12.—A Soldiers' Council has been formed at the front and will submit its demands to Field-Marshal von Hindenburg to-morrow (November 12), says a Wolff Bureau dispatch from German General Headquarters.

Mutiny.
Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—Via London, Nov. 12.—German troops at the Beverloo camp in Belgium have mutinied and are marching with their guns toward Holland.

Hindenburg.
Amsterdam, Nov. 12.—Field-Marshal von Hindenburg is not in Holland, according to a telegram from the semi-official Wolff Bureau at Berlin. He is remaining at main army headquarters and adheres to the new Government.

The telegram adds that Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, commander of the German northern army group, has not fled, as some reports have declared.

The Austrian forces of occupation have withdrawn from Montenegro and it is probable that the reported insurrection may be a conflict between elements of the Montenegrin population to gain control pending the return of the Montenegrin Government, which has been in France since early in 1916.

WORK-OR-FIGHT ORDER PASSES AWAY IN U. S.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The cancellation of all army draft calls throughout the United States yesterday practically has nullified the famous "work-or-fight" order promulgated last summer. The work-or-fight order falls into disuse by reason of the fact that the only penalty attached was that of being placed in Class One.

A single order from the General Staff would suffice to start another stream of men flowing into the cantonments and bring the work-or-fight rule back into force.

United States Soldiers Entered Town Fifteen Minutes Before Armistice

With the American Forces on the Meuse and Moselle, Nov. 11.—Via London, Nov. 12.—The last French town to fall into American hands before the armistice went into effect was Stenay. A quarter of an hour before 11 o'clock to-day, "tricolor" troops rushed through the town and in a few minutes Allied flags were beginning to appear from the windows. As the church bells solemnly tolled the hour of eleven, troops from the Nineteenth Division were pouring into the town.

Only a line of glowing campfires marked the front to-night (Monday). Except for the rumble of thousands of trucks and other incidents in the stirring of enormous armies, there is not a sound to indicate that two great forces still are facing each other.

The greater part of the 800,000 persons still remaining in Stenay were in their cellars, fearfully awaiting the bombardment which they believed would surely come as the Americans entered Stenay. Those who did not get to the cellars in time were greeted by the Americans with tears in their eyes. With trembling hands they offered coffee and bread to their deliverers.

The town is not badly damaged by shell fire, but according to the remaining inhabitants, was plundered by the Germans of nearly everything of value.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Russia, still looked upon as an unfortunate friend of her victorious former allies in spite of the hold the Bolsheviks have upon her soil, is all that remains of the world war.

CHARLES IS REPORTED TO HAVE ABDICATED

Private Advice From Vienna Say Austrian Emperor Has Quit

London, Nov. 12.—8.46 a.m.—Emperor Charles of Austria has abdicated, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company quoting private advices from Vienna.

The abdication of Emperor Charles was rumored several times in the past two weeks but none of these reports have been confirmed. On October 23 it was reported that he had fled from Vienna, but this was denied by a Berlin newspaper, which said he was at the Austrian capital on October 29 and that he had been cordially received by the people while going about the city. The most recent report in connection with Emperor Charles was received on November 2, when it was stated he had announced his intention to abdicate.

STATES TO BUILD BIG CARGO SHIPS

Shipbuilding Programme Will Not Be Affected by the Armistice

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—The signing of the armistice will not affect the United States Government's shipbuilding programme, according to Charles M. Schwab, Director-General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

"The continuation of the programme," said Mr. Schwab, "will be the biggest factor in tiding over the period between war production and peace conditions."

"Our tonnage output so far has consisted too largely of small vessels, because we had to take anything we could get to meet the necessity. Now we shall turn to the larger carriers of 10,000 to 14,000 tons, they being the most economical when cost is compared with capacity. The ruling principle of our shipbuilding from now on will be economy."

"Following the big carriers will come the large passenger ships, which must sooner or later be constructed, if we are to compete with the shipping of other nations."

STRICT DISCIPLINE BEING MAINTAINED

Pershing Tells Troops to Be Ready at Any Moment for Further Operations

With the American Army in France, Nov. 11.—Via London, Nov. 12.—Orders announcing that the armistice between the Allied Powers and Germany had been signed and giving directions as to the future conduct of Allied soldiers along the line were sent to every corps of the American army this (Monday) morning. They were transmitted to the units in the front ranks. The orders follow:

"1. You are informed that hostilities will cease along the whole front at 11 o'clock a. m. November 11, 1918, Paris time.

"2. No Allied troops will pass the line reached by them at that hour and date until further orders.

"3. Division commanders will immediately sketch the location of the front line. This sketch will be returned to headquarters by the courier bearing these orders.

"4. All communication with the enemy, both before and after the termination of hostilities, is absolutely forbidden. In case of violation of this order severest disciplinary measures will be immediately taken. Any officer offending will be sent to headquarters under guard.

Only an Armistice.
"5. Every emphasis will be laid on the fact that the arrangement is an armistice only and not a peace.

"6. There must not be the slightest relaxation of vigilance. Troops must be prepared at any moment for further operations.

"7. Special steps will be taken by all commanders to insure the strictest discipline and that all troops be held in readiness fully prepared for any eventuality.

ROARS OF CHEERS IN FRENCH CHAMBER

Memory of Host of Heroes Who Died Brought Tears

Paris, Nov. 12.—The Chamber of Deputies has seldom displayed such unanimity as it did yesterday in cheering each article of the German armistice terms as they were read by Premier Clemenceau. As soon as the Premier had read a clause, the entire Chamber would jump to its feet and cheer. Generally the tumult was so great that the voice of "The Tiger" was lost in the uproar.

Only once or twice were there purposeful interruptions by Socialists. After reading the conditions the Premier excused himself from making a lengthy address, but said: "In the name of the people of France and in the name of the Government of France, let us salute Alsace-Lorraine."

Tears came to the eyes of most of those in the Chamber—tears for the memory of the dead and tears from the powerful reaction of the moment.

The diplomatic gallery was filled and among those present were the Earl of Derby, the British Ambassador, United States Ambassador Sharp and the Ambassadors from Spain and Italy. There was a full House. Deputies and the only empty seats were those marked by the tri-color and crepe which designated the sacrifice of a member who had given his life in the service of his country.

While the session was in progress a battery of 75's maintained a steady cannonade in celebration of the victory from its position along the Seine.

COTTON DROPPED $10 A BALE TO-DAY IN UNITED STATES

New York, Nov. 12.—Cotton dropped $10 a bale in the market here to-day. Traders seemed unable to interpret the peace situation in its relation to the staple. The recession of 200 points for the January option was the maximum movement permitted by a rule adopted October 5 by the board of managers of the Cotton Exchange, designed to prevent excessive fluctuations during any one day's trading.

SAYS STATES MUST ASSIST WITH FOOD

Hoover Points to Necessity of Sending Food to Europe

Washington, Nov. 12.—The obligation of the United States to serve mankind in war-torn Europe by helping to provide sustenance until the next harvest will demand further sacrifices of the American people, United States Food Administrator Hoover declared today in an address at a conference here of State Food Administrators.

Conditions of famine exist in Europe, Mr. Hoover said, that would be "beyond our powers to remedy," even with the carrying out of the plan to ship from the United States and the West Indies 20,000,000 tons of foodstuffs during the next year. In Northern Russia alone, he declared, there are 40,000,000 people who have but little chance of obtaining food this winter. Millions of others throughout Europe, he said, who can be reached must be fed.

"This being the new world situation created by the collapse of the war," Mr. Hoover continued, "the present changes in our policies on to-day's outlook can be summarized."

"That we may now advantageously abandon the use of substitutes in our (Concluded on page 4.)

Ask That Representatives Meet As Soon As Possible; Dutch Government Reported to Be Preparing to Intern Wilhelm Hohenzollern and Son

London, Nov. 12.—4 p.m.—Germany has requested the President of the United States, according to a German wireless dispatch from Berlin, to arrange immediately for the opening of peace negotiations, there being a pressing danger of famine.

London, Nov. 12.—Holland is said to be preparing to intern Wilhelm Hohenzollern and his son, the former Crown Prince, as well as other German military officers who sought refuge with them by crossing the Dutch frontier. This action may prevent the former Kaiser from returning to Germany should events take a sudden turn, and following the example of Napoleon in 1815.

Amsterdam, Nov. 12.—A great mystery still is being made of the destination in Holland of Wilhelm Hohenzollern, the former Kaiser of Germany. Three different country seats of the Bentinck family now are mentioned as his temporary abode.

A General Strike in Vienna Planned According to Report

London, Nov. 12.—It is reported that a general strike will be declared in Vienna to-morrow, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph quoting private advices from Vienna.

VERNON CELEBRATED MAKING OF ARMISTICE

Vernon, B. C., Nov. 12.—Vernon's celebration was the greatest event in the history of the city. From early morning till late at night enthusiastic crowds kept up the rejoicing. The largest parade ever held here took place in the afternoon. The long procession of decorated cars and trucks included returned soldiers, army and navy veterans and representatives of the Red Cross and other patriotic organizations. In the evening a big crowd assembled in front of the court-house, where an impressive address was delivered by Bishop Doull.

An immense bonfire then was lighted, round which bands played and the crowd sang patriotic airs. The proceedings terminated with a confetti carnival.

FOUR MORE DAYS REMAIN FOR CITIZENS TO INVEST FREELY IN VICTORY LOAN

In celebration of the fact that her $4,000,000 quota had been raised, the Honor Flag of Greater Victoria was this morning unfurled in front of the Victory Loan Office. This ceremony, however, does not mean that the city must slacken in her efforts during the remaining four days of the drive, for a large sum must yet be invested before the $5,000,000 objective is reached. The testing time will be from now on. There must be no let up, say the officials, for never was the need for money so imperative. The very fact that Victoria has gone so far on the journey during the first part of the drive shows that a large number of dollars can yet be piled into the Victory Chest.

ment and Municipalities of Victoria, Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay, which amount approximately to $1,000,000.

No Let Up Now.
It is emphasized by the Victoria Loan Committee that money will be needed in staggering sums to effect the demobilization of the great Canadian army. The boys whom Victoria so ungrudgingly sent to fight in France must be brought home again. It is evident that the citizens of the city appreciate the necessity of over-subscribing the Loan for, though little bond-selling was done yesterday, considerably over the daily average necessary was invested. The people must maintain this pace if Canada is to add one more victory to her already glorious record.

NATIONS ARE UNITED IN COMMON PURPOSE

To Set Up Such a Peace That Will Satisfy the Longing of the World, Says Wilson

Washington, Nov. 12.—President Wilson, after announcing to Congress the terms of the armistice, spoke as follows:

"The war thus comes to an end, for, having accepted these terms of armistice, it will be impossible for the German command to renew it. It is not now possible to assess the consequences of this great consummation. We know only that this tragic war, whose consuming flames swept from one nation to another until all the world was on fire, is at an end, and that it was the privilege of our own people to enter it at its most critical juncture in such fashion and in such force as to contribute, in a way of which we are all deeply proud, to the great result. We know, too, that the object of the war is attained: the object upon which all free men had set their hearts; and attained with a sweeping completeness which even now we do not realize. Armed imperialism, such as the man conceived who were bent yesterday the masters of Germany, is at an end, its illicit ambitions engulfed in black disaster. Who will now seek to revive it? The arbitrary power of the military caste of Germany, which once so secretly and of its own single choice disturbed the peace of the world, is discredited and destroyed. And more than that—much more than that—has been accomplished.

Permanent Peace.

The great nations which associated themselves to destroy it have now definitely united in the common purpose to set up such a peace as will satisfy the longing of the whole world for disinterested justice embodied in settlements which are based upon something better and much more lasting than the selfish competitive interests of powerful states. There is no longer conjecture as to the objects the victors have in mind. They have a mind in the matter, not only, but a heart also. Their avowed and concerted purpose is to satisfy and protect the weak as well as to accord their just rights to the strong.

"The humane temper and intention of the victorious Governments has already been manifested in a very practical way. Their representatives in the supreme War Council at Versailles have by unanimous resolutions assured the peoples of the Central Empires that everything that is possible in the circumstances will be done to supply them with food and relieve the distressing want that in so many places threatens their very lives; and steps are to be taken immediately to organize these efforts at relief in the same sympathetic manner that they were organized in the case of Belgium. By the use of the idle tonnage of the Central Powers it ought presently to be possible to lift the fear of utter misery from their oppressed populations and set their minds and energies free for the great and hazardous task of reconstruction.

WEEPING ECZEMA SOON RELIEVED

A Perfect Treatment for This Distressing Complaint

Wasing, Ont. "I had an attack of Weeping Eczema; so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times.

"For four months I suffered terribly. I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-lives' and 'Sootha Salva.' The first treatment gave me relief.

"Altogether, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-lives,' and am entirely well."

G. W. HALL. Both these sterling remedies are sold by dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

"Fruit-a-lives" is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.

ous tasks of political reconstruction which now face them on every hand. Hunger does not breed reform; it breeds madness and all the distempers that make an ordered life impossible.

Ordered Revolution.

"For with the fall of the ancient Governments which rested like an incubus upon the peoples of the Central Empires, has come political change, not merely, but revolution; and revolution which seeks as yet to assume no final and ordered form, but to run from one fluid change to another, until thoughtful men are forced to ask themselves with what Governments, and what order, we are about to deal in the making of the covenants of peace? With what authority will they meet us, and with what assurance that their authority will abide? There is here matter for no small anxiety and misgiving. When peace is made, upon whose promises and engagements besides our own is it to rest?"

"Let us be perfectly frank with ourselves and admit that these questions cannot be satisfactorily answered now or at once. But the moral is not that there is little hope of an early answer that will suffice. It is only that we must be patient and helpful, and mindful above all of the great hope and confidence that lie at the heart of what is taking place. Success in accomplishing nothing but happy Russia has furnished abundant proof of that. Disorder immediately defeats itself. If excesses should occur, if disorder should for a time raise its head, a sober second thought will follow and a day of constructive action, if we help and do not hinder.

"The present and all that it holds before the nations and the peoples who preserve their self-control and the orderly processes of their Governments; the future to those who prove themselves true friends of mankind. To conquer with arms is to make only a temporary conquest, to conquer the world by earning its esteem is to make permanent conquest. I am confident that the nations that have learned that discipline of freedom and that have settled with self-possession to its ordered practice are now about to make conquest by the power of their example and of friendly helpfulness.

Treasures of Liberty.

"The people who have but just come out from under the yoke of arbitrary Government, and who are now coming at last into their freedom, will never find the treasures of liberty they are in search of if they look for them by the light of the torch. They will find that every pathway is stained with the blood of their hopes. They are now face to face with their initial tests. We must hold the light steadily until they find themselves. And in the meantime, if it be possible, we must establish a peace that will justify their place among the nations, remove all fear of the neighbors and enable them to live in security and contentment when they have set their own affairs in order. For one, do not doubt their purpose or their capacity. There are some happy signs that they know and will choose the way of self-control and peaceful accommodation. If they do, we shall put our aid at their disposal in every way that we can. If they do not, we must await with patience and sympathy the awakening and recovery that will assuredly come at last."

URAEIA FOLLOWS KIDNEY DISEASE

Dreadful perils lurk in Kidney weakness.

Insidiously it develops into Bright's Disease and Uraemia, poisoning the system it sweeps with fatal effect, causing dropsy, gout, gravel and jaundice.

Many remedies contain alcohol.

In consequence they inflame the disease to further fury. A proper remedy will soothe and heal the kidneys, give them strength, and nourish them back to health.

Such a remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are composed of simple vegetable extracts and juices that are absorbed at once by the kidneys.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills heal and cure the diseased tissues, restore healthy action, and allay congestion and inflammation.

Proof is abundant, and here is quoted the experience of Mr. Patrick McDonald, of 285 Kent Street, Ottawa.

"My back, ached from morning till night. Every bit of work I did made me weak and worn. I couldn't stoop or lift without getting dizzy. My tongue was furred and my appetite poor. My head ached continually, and I had severe urinary disorders. My kidneys were in the worst possible state. I had heard of the wonderful Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and proved them just the medicine I needed. Why, I felt better in a week, and after using these pills for a month or two at regular intervals I was completely restored."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills give complete relief because they act directly on the diseased tissues of the kidneys. Get the genuine in yellow boxes, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1. at all dealers. Refuse a substitute.

SOFT'S MESSAGE TO PRESIDENT WILSON

German Secretary Pleads for Mitigation of Conditions Germany Brought on Herself

London, Nov. 12.—The full text of the German wireless dispatch giving the message from Foreign Secretary Soft to Secretary of State Lansing at Washington, follows. Brief portions of the message sent out Monday night did not make clear whether Dr. Soft referred to the armistice conditions of conditions in Germany.

"Convinced of the common aims and ideals of democracy," said Dr. Soft, "The German Government had addressed itself to the President of the United States with a request to re-establish peace. This peace was meant to correspond with the principles the President always had maintained. The aim was to be a just solution of all questions in dispute, followed by a permanent reconciliation of all nations."

"Furthermore, the President had declared he did not wish to make war on the German people and did not wish to impede its peaceful development. The German Government has received the conditions of the armistice. "After the blockade these conditions, especially the surrender of means of transportation and the sustenance of the troops of occupation, would make it impossible to provide Germany with food and would cause the starvation of millions of men, women and children, all the more as the blockade is to continue.

"We had to accept the conditions, but feel it is our duty to draw the President's attention most solemnly and in all earnestness to the fact that enforcement of the conditions must proceed amongst the German people feelings contrary to those upon which alone the reconstruction of the community of nations can rest, guaranteeing a just and durable peace."

"The German people, therefore, in this fateful hour, address themselves again to the President with the request that he use his influence with the Allied Powers in order to mitigate these fearful conditions."

AMERICANS WARNED THAT TROOPS MAY NOT RETURN FOR TWO YEARS

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Former President Taft warned people of the United States in a speech last night not to expect their soldier relatives and friends back from the battlefields of France within two years, because of the big polling job which will fall on the shoulders of the United States following the establishment of peace. In advocating universal military training, Mr. Taft said: "This war has taught us that it pays to be prepared and I am in favor of military training for the measure of protection it will give, as well as the benefits which will come to the men who take up the army training course."

ADLER, LEADER OF AUSTRIAN SOCIALISTS, NOW IS REPORTED DEAD

MANCHESTER GUARDIAN ON EX-GERMAN COLONIES

London, Nov. 12.—Commenting upon the mention of the disposition of the former German colonies, The Manchester Guardian says that some of those interested in colonial questions are asking whether the time is not coming when "the United States will reconsider her attitude in regard to undertaking territorial obligations toward the backward regions of the earth."

"If the administration of the former German colonies is to be added to the already enormous burden resting upon the British Empire," the newspaper says, "this burden, if carried out by us or shared in some manner between Great Britain and France, may become altogether too unwieldy. There is the greatest need in colonial administration of the efficient and liberal-minded help which the United States could supply."

ARE PREPARED TO OCCUPY HELIGOLAND

Allies' Course If Germans Should Fail to Carry Out Naval Conditions

London, Nov. 12.—A declaration supplementing the armistice terms was signed to the effect that in the event of the six German battleships, ten battlecruisers, eight light cruisers and fifty destroyers not being handed over to the Allies owing to a mutinous state, the Allies reserve the right to occupy Heligoland as an advance base, to enable them to enforce the terms.

The following message was sent by wireless by the German plenipotentiaries:

"To the German High Command, to be communicated to all authorities interested:

"Radio received. Armistice was signed at five o'clock in the morning, French time. It comes into force at eleven o'clock in the morning (Monday), French time. Delay for evacuation prolonged by twenty-four hours for the left bank of the Rhine beside the five days; therefore thirty-one days in all. Modifications of the text with that brought by (Courier) Helldorf will be transferred by radio."

PRIORITIES LIST IS CHANGED IN STATES

War Industries Board Acts Promptly Following Cessation of Hostilities

Washington, Nov. 12.—The War Industries Board of the United States today nearly completed its revision of the priorities list at least partially removing restrictions on non-war activities, and readjusting industries to the new situation arising from the end of the war.

Railroads and shipping, it is expected, will be placed at the top of the list and munitions at the bottom. The revised list will be made public probably to-morrow.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Manufacture of passenger automobiles in the United States after January 1, the date fixed for 100 per cent. curtailment, is likely to continue because of the sudden collapse of the war and the consequent expected lessening of the Government's steel demands. This intimation was given to-day by the War Industries Board.

GERARD SAYS EX-KAISER SHOULD BE HANGED

New York, Nov. 12.—Extradition for former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany from Holland and his trial in England on the charge of murder for which he has been indicted, was urged here last night by James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, in an impromptu address before a theatre audience.

Asking whether a man shall be allowed to escape who had "killed so many people that if they were stretched on the ground they would form a line almost around the entire world," Mr. Gerard answered his own question with an emphatic "I should say not."

"There is a treaty between Holland and Great Britain," Mr. Gerard declared, "by which they can extradite the ex-Kaiser, who has been indicted in the United Kingdom, and try him before a British court. I guess all know what the verdict would be. When the hangman drops the trap he will be doing away with one of the world's greatest murderers."

HELIGOLAND AND NORTHERN FLEET ARE IN REVOLUTIONISTS' HANDS

GREAT TURMOIL ON BATTLEFRONT ENDED

Attacking British Forces Ceased Operations Promptly at Appointed Hour

With the British Army in Belgium, Nov. 11.—Via London, Nov. 12.—Peace descended like a mantle over the battlefield at 11 o'clock this (Monday) forenoon. The last big gun crashed its challenge and a great, overpowering quiet replaced the former turmoil, destruction and death.

Almost coincident with the signing of the armistice by the desperate enemy the city of Mons capitulated before relentless Canadian pressure. On this hallowed ground the troops now are resting on their arms, happy in the thought of the fitness of their final triumph. They had driven the enemy out of the same gateway through which Field-Marshal von Foulon and Field-Marshal von Kluck hurried their great armies against the valiant little force of "contemptibles" in 1914.

The population of Mons paraded the streets, cheering madly their deliverers. Their cries must have reached the ears of the Germans outside the wall of the town.

Early this (Monday) morning a crisp graphic order to cease firing at 11 o'clock was delivered to all units, with a further order to maintain defensive precautions and to have no intercourse with the enemy. The advance continued, the guns racing forward to the advance batteries, seeking the honor of firing the final shot.

Punctually at 11 o'clock the firing stopped. Fleets of British aeroplanes dropped showers of signal lights, which descended with the momentous message to those below.

Effect on Troops.

There was joy in plenty among the troops at the first blush of peace, but there was little in the nature of demonstrations. Tommy Atkins was unable to realize the announcement was true, although his heart was burning with the hope of going back to his wife and baby in Blighty. So he stood and waited for something to happen, he knew not what.

This could not be the end after all the shambles and horror he had been through.

One of these tattered and mud-caked veterans came to the correspondents' headquarters and he saluted, asking fatteringly "is it all over?"

Being reassured, he sped back to his companions to communicate the good news.

This afternoon the celebrations and rejoicing were making the old town of Mons vibrate. Bands of pipers led marching throngs about the city. The reception given the Canadian commanders who entered Mons in the middle of the afternoon was similar in its heartiness to the scenes in Valenciennes and other liberated towns.

H. M. S. BRITANNIA, PRE-DREADNOUGHT, WAS SUNK LAST SATURDAY

London, Nov. 12.—The British pre-dreadnought battleship Britannia was torpedoed near the western entrance of the Straits of Gibraltar on November 9 and sank three and a half hours later, according to an Admiralty announcement issued last night. Thirty-nine officers and 672 men were saved.

The Britannia, which had a displacement of 16,350 tons, was completed in 1906 at Portsmouth. She was 453 feet in length, had a speed of approximately nineteen knots and carried a peace-time complement of 777 men. Her main armament consisted of four 12-inch guns.

A GREAT PRO-ENTENTE CELEBRATION OCCURRED IN URUGUAYAN HOUSE

Montevideo, Nov. 12.—A great pro-ally demonstration took place yesterday in the Uruguayan Parliament. A bill was passed declaring November 13 a national holiday to celebrate the signing of the armistice between the Entente nations and Germany.

GERMAN DELEGATES ASKED ABOUT FOOD

Told of Germany's Difficulties Before Signing Armistice; Statement by Clemenceau

Paris, Nov. 12.—The new German Government, it appears, considered the armistice terms of the Allies at a sitting late on Sunday at Berlin. Having decided to accept them, it telephoned instructions from Berlin to Spa, the German main headquarters, authorizing the delegates to affix their signatures to the agreement.

The courier, who was waiting at Spa, left immediately for the lines and crossed them without incident north of Chimay. He reached the Chateau de Francfort at about 2 o'clock in the morning and found the German plenipotentiaries waiting. They asked, after they had read their instructions, to see Marshal Foch, who was in a special train on a switch near the Chateau.

Marshal Foch, with Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss, First Sea Lord of the British Admiralty, received them. A discussion, which is described by a correspondent of The Temps as being "rather long," took place upon certain clauses, particularly that concerning the maintenance of the blockade.

The German delegates signed the document at 5 o'clock.

Premier Clemenceau, receiving correspondents to-day, said on the question of the blockade: "The German plenipotentiaries insisted, above all, upon the question of food. We will maintain it is well understood, the blockade during the terms of the armistice. Nevertheless, as the situation in Germany and Austria is desperate, we will do everything possible to feed them that we can in fairness to ourselves. It is the question of transport which dominates all these problems."

AMERICAN MARINE INSURANCE RATES TO BE CUT DOWN

Washington, Nov. 12.—Treasury advisers to-day recommended to Secretary McAdoo that war risk insurance rates on hulls, cargoes, and seamen's lives be reduced to seventy-five per cent.

This means that rates on ships and their cargoes through the former war zone will be reduced from two to one-half of one per cent, with other rates cut accordingly. Secretary McAdoo is expected to approve the suggestion immediately.

SHELL-TORN VERDUN BEDECKED FOR VICTORY

With the American Army on the Meuse and Moselle, via London, Nov. 12.—Flags appeared like magic over the shell-torn buildings of Verdun to-day. French and American colors were flying side by side.

In every village there were flags and decorations which were brought up to the front by the soldiers. In the villages back of the line there were impromptu celebrations and the civilians in holiday spirit saluted the Americans and shouted: "The war is finished."

NEWSPAPERS SWING OVER IN GERMANY

Lokal Anzeiger and North German Gazette Join Revolutionary Ranks

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—Via London, Nov. 12.—An agreement has been reached between the Socialist and independent Socialist parties in Germany and the new regime seems to have secured ample support from the press. According to the Wolff Bureau, the Socialists are now represented by three newspapers. The Vorwaerts, the Lokal Anzeiger, formerly the Kaiser's favorite newspaper and now re-christened "The Red Flag," and the former semi-official organ, "The North German Gazette," which has taken the new title of "The International."

The revolutionary movement is continually spreading. Koenigsberg, Frankfurt-on-Main and Strassburg are now controlled by the Soviets. It is officially reported that there were no disorders. A statement issued by the Berlin Soldiers' and Workmen's Council says that all public services have been placed under the control of the Councils and that all the leading offices are being filled by the comrades. The administration, it adds, is retained "but its leaders are inspired with the new spirit of liberty."

The foundation of the new German republic was proclaimed by Philipp Scheidemann from the steps of the Reichstag building.

"Perhaps you are right, Mary, I think I will follow your advice"

"In what way?"

"By trying Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I have been reading here about the symptoms of exhausted nerves, and the description just suits my case."

"I am sure it will help you just as it did me when I had nervous prostration, for you know yourself that nothing else seemed to do me any good."

"That is about right."

"Well, I have been telling you that the Nerve Food is what you need."

"I know you have, but I did not think there was anything wrong with my nerves, for I was always pretty well. In thing sure, I cannot sleep nights, and get up so tired every morning that I do not feel like taking hold of work like I used to."

"I have felt that I am losing grip on business and sometimes get discouraged. Of course, I have been working hard since we are so short-handed, and I suppose this is beginning to tell."

"Well, I have been worried about your health, but you would not take my advice and so I could do no more. I am awfully glad you are going to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for I am sure it will build up your health."

"I have been reading here a letter from Mr. Myles of Lindsay, and I am not going to delay treatment until I get like he was. When the Nerve Food cured him it will surely help me."

This is the letter:

Mr. Alex. Myles, 3 Regent street, Lindsay, Ont., writes:

"For the last five years I have been troubled with my nerves. At times I could not put on my coat alone, and often when trying to read the paper my hands would shake so that the paper would rattle, and I could scarcely read it. When drinking a cup of tea I was difficult to get it to my lips. I did not sleep well, and sometimes would only be asleep a short time when I would wake up and then lie awake the rest of the night. In, also, I used to take cramps in my legs so badly that I would have to get up at night and walk the floor. Sometimes during the day the cramps would bother me too. My muscles seemed to tie up in knots. I had tried different medicines without success. Last fall I secured a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and as this one box helped me, I got some more and continued taking them till my nervousness was cured. I feel much better generally, can eat well, and sleep right through the night. I have not had any cramps for two months, and I give all the credit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Some years ago, too, I was troubled with piles, and upon the advice of a friend, used Dr. Chase's Ointment, which cured me. I have great faith in all of Dr. Chase's medicines."

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies to the body the vital substances from which new, rich blood and nerve force is created it cannot fail to be of benefit to the system. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., is on every box of the genuine.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisulphated magnesia—the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisulphated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisulphated magnesia immediately after a meal you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow, and moreover, the continued use of the bisulphated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

Draft Boards Stop Classifying Men; Questionnaires Need Not Be Returned

Washington, Nov. 12.—The draft boards throughout the United States were ordered to-day to stop classifying men under nineteen and over thirty-six years and to withhold questionnaires for such registrants not already sent out.

It was officially announced at the Provost-Marshal-General's office that registrants of eighteen and from thirty-seven to forty-six years old who have received questionnaires need not fill them out.

The War Department to-day countermanded orders providing for an officers' training camp at Fremont, Cal. to accommodate 20,000 students.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Orders went out to-day to the heads of all military departments to discontinue at once the acceptance of applications for admission to the central officers' training camps. No decision has been reached regarding the classes now in progress at these camps, but it was intimated here that the students would be permitted to complete their course.

THE HOME STRETCH.

We are now on the home stretch of the Victory Loan campaign and must make our final spurt to the goal. Greater Victoria should do more than to raise the million required to run the total to $5,000,000, for that aggregate would include the investment of the Provincial Government. She should make the daily average $250,000 so that her total will be $5,000,000 apart from the $564,000 subscribed by the Province. The rest of the Island is doing splendidly, having subscribed $340,000 up to Saturday night, which means that it will exceed its allotment of $1,000,000. Mr. G. H. Dawson, the energetic chairman of the Island Committee is announcing the capture of Honor Flags right and left with justifiable pride. Greater Victoria must keep pace with the rest of the Island, and between both they will astonish those in charge of the Victory Loan campaign who fixed the total allotment for Vancouver Island at $6,000,000.

We are confident the public realizes that the signing of the armistice in no way reduces the urgency of the Victory Loan. Not a man nor a gun will be moved from the Allied front for many months, because nobody can be sure what the outcome of the developments in Central Europe will be. Peace has not been declared. The demand upon this country's resources for the next twelve months may be greater in fact than it ever has been before.

MONS AND SEDAN.

The spirit of the "Old Contemptibles" surely marched with the Canadian troops yesterday, for they entered Mons just as the armistice was going into effect. Thus, troops of this Empire had regained every inch of ground the dauntless little army of 1914 had to abandon under pressure of overwhelming odds. Nowhere could there be a more fitting place for the last act of the Empire's armed forces on the battlefield than the spot where the troops under Sir John French, Sir Douglas Haig and Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien in 1914 first stood in the path of the legions of von Kluck and von Buelow.

At the other end of the long active battlefield a similar scene was enacted. General Gouraud, the one-armed hero of the Champagne and Argonne, at the head of picked French veterans entered Sedan. Thus, for France Sedan, once a symbol of defeat and humiliation, now takes its place on her glorious record as a synonym of a victorious peace, a peace of freedom and justice. Thus, too, has the prophecy of Victor Hugo, uttered in the early seventies, come true. "At Sedan," he said, "Germany presented France with a democracy. Some day France in the same way may present a democracy to Germany."

INTERNED IN HOLLAND.

According to press dispatches William Hohenzollern, late "All-Highest War Lord" of the late German Empire; also late "Admiral of the Atlantic," "Emperor of Europe" and "Protector of Islam," claims internment in Holland. In that case he entered the Netherlands as an officer in the German army. In ordinary circumstances he thus would be safe from removal until after peace was finally declared.

But the circumstances are not likely to be ordinary. The people of Holland are certain to demand that William be deported within a very short time. They remember that he had slated their country for absorption to Germanized Europe with all the other little nations within the German reach. They are all familiar with the Prussian designs upon the lower Rhine—who is not? That is why they extended their military dyke defences.

Since 1914 scarcely a week has passed in which the mailed fist has not been shaken, and the sabre rattled, in the faces of the Hollanders. Their ships have been sunk at their very harbors by German submarines, sunk without warning with the loss of innocent Dutch lives, just as the Lusitania was sunk, and the Kaiser bestowed Orders of Merit and Iron Crosses upon the men who sank them. The Dutch people are likely to raise trouble for their Government if it allows William Hohenzollern and his murder factory operatives to remain in their country.

There is another consideration. When the revolutionary leaders in Germany begin investigating the causes of the war and what Germany has lost in human and material treasure, they may demand a reckoning with all the apostles of Prussian militarism, and they are almost sure to insist that Holland surrender the fugitives to them. If, however, the Dutch people do not demand the deportation of William and his associates and the German revolutionists do not insist upon their forcible return to Germany, then the fugitives certainly will have to be given up to the Allies after peace has been declared. These men and every other German in the list which has been carefully kept by the Allies must be punished according to the common law of democratic nations; not in the spirit of vengeance, but in the same spirit and for the same reason that malefactors are punished in the ordinary processes of justice. They made war and inflicted unspeakable atrocities upon the world, and the world must punish them, if Germany will not, as a warning that never will be forgotten by mankind.

It will be observed that William Hohenzollern is the first of the German war-makers and leaders to run away, according to definite information so far. Henry of Prussia is reported to have crossed the Danish frontier but the report remains unauthenticated. The whereabouts of the Crown Prince have not been made clear. All the members of the other German dynasties are still in Germany. But the "All-Highest War Lord" and would-be world conqueror is afraid to face the music of the new German band.

THE VITAL DIFFERENCE.

Although before the war Germany and Austria-Hungary were in one group and Russia was in another the three were the constituents of a single system of military autocracy, of which the Houses of Romanoff, Hohenzollern and Hapsburg were the pillars. Notwithstanding the fact that two were fighting the third, the three were fundamentally interdependent; if one pillar fell it was only a question of time when the whole structure of autocracy between the Pacific, the Rhine and the Danube would collapse. That was why, in 1849, the Czar of Russia sent an army into Hungary to preserve the supremacy of the Hapsburgs over the Dual Monarchy and Petrograd was preparing to make a separate peace with the Central Empires in this war just before the Russian revolution.

The home front collapsed first in each. The Russian army was never more powerful than it was immediately before the revolution; Brusiloff was actually penetrating the Carpathians. Austria-Hungary began to crumble weeks before the Allies launched their offensive in Venetia and the Trentino. The German army to-day is still very formidable, in fact, in numbers it is nearly equal to that of the Allies, if it is not actually equal. But Germany is in ruins behind it.

The system of government in all of those countries weakened the home front for the benefit of the battlefield. To create and supply great armies the autocrats had to corrupt the moral fibre of the people and make them units of a huge machine which could run only on one track. They had to keep the public mind rivetted on aggression and offensive activities against their neighbors with the promise of victories, loot and other material profit. Germany, particularly, while prepared absolutely for offence was totally unprepared for defence. That is to say, the German state of mind had been organized for one purpose, that of conquest over others. Hence, it could not adapt itself to a defensive war and when, after a hundred days of Allied victories, this condition arrived the German home front crumbled.

James W. Gerard, former United States Ambassador to Germany, stated in one of his books that there would be no revolution in Germany until after the war. Mr. Gerard evidently did not dig into the psychology of the Germanized people. A well-known American correspondent who left Berlin with the Ambassador, saw what Mr. Gerard did not see—the fundamental weakness of the system the Hohenzollerns had established. He declared that Germany would break as soon as she realized that she could not win, as soon as she discovered she had to meet an invasion of her soil. She nearly broke after her defeat at Verdun in 1916, and again a few weeks after the first battle of the Somme began. The collapse of Russia last spring averted a break-up then. She broke this time when the Hindenburg line was smashed.

All this shows why, given time to get started, democracies always defeat autocracies in war. They are fundamentally stronger. They invariably fight for a good cause. They develop their power from the people up, while autocracies build from their autocrats down. One begins at the bottom while the other commences at the top. With democracies the home front is seventy-five per cent of a nation's power in war; with autocracies the actual fighting organization is the seventy-five per cent. With democracies morale, or moral courage, is to numbers as three is to one. To quote Napoleon: with autocracies morale and moral courage are sacrificed to military efficiency. Hence, the Allies sustained reverse after reverse for four years and did not waver, but actually grew stronger after each, while the Central Empires collapsed immediately they were thrown upon their defence and were confronted with a test such as the Allies faced without flinching in 1914 and 1915 and last summer.

We wonder if the versatile Dr. Karl Rosner accompanied William Hohenzollern to Holland and if he still keeps a diary. The columns of the Lokal Anzeiger, of course, are closed to contributions of such character now, which is a pity for it would be of unusual interest to know just what William Hohenzollern is saying at the breakfast table these days.

"Keep the home fires burning" to the end of the chapter by buying Victory Bonds. Canada will need the money for the next year more than she ever will need it again, which means that she is paying more for it than she ever will pay again.

Bernhardt was right; there was no half-way house between world power and downfall for Germany once she drew her sword. And it is downfall with her.

WILL USE GERMAN MERCHANT VESSELS

Wilson Plans Allies Will Keep Food Moving for Themselves and Teutons

Washington, Nov. 12.—The appeal of Dr. Self, Foreign Secretary at Berlin, intervention by President Wilson to mitigate the "fearful conditions" of the armistice, which he says threaten starvation and ruin in Germany, reached Washington to-day in official form. The message was before the President and was given immediate consideration. Officials say Dr. Self is needlessly alarmed. While every stipulation of the Allies' armistice terms must be kept in force to prevent the possibility of treachery, such rolling stock and ships as may be necessary to provide food and other essentials will be put into use in Germany and on the seas. In view of the situation in Germany, where outside aid may be necessary to prevent anarchy, it is possible that the President may see fit to take up with the other Allied Governments the question of giving some kind of reassurance as to the humane purposes of the Allied Powers.

German Ships.
 The plan is to put the German merchant marine into service as soon as possible. The German naval vessels, created by the German naval revolt, are cleared and such vessels necessary will be employed for sending supplies through German ports.

Due precautions will be taken, of course, to see that these supplies will be devoted to the purposes for which they were intended. President Wilson already has instructed Food Administrator Hoover to proceed to Europe and represent the United States in dealing with the situation, which will include the care of the German population as well as the victims of the war in France and Belgium.

STATES HAS TASKS OF NEW CHARACTER

Attention Given Now to Return of Troops and Other Problems

Washington, Nov. 12.—The United States to-day turned toward the ways of peace. With the military strength of the Central Powers shattered by the Allies and hostilities ended under the terms of a surrender that preclude a renewal of the great struggle, the United States, with the other Allied Governments, to-day took up the problems of reconstruction. Immediately ahead, however, diplomatic Washington saw the peace conference—the world's court of justice before which Germany, as the chief criminal, will stand as a prisoner at the bar. When or where the final peace negotiations will be held officials would not conjecture. It was regarded as likely that the conference will be similar to the meeting at Versailles, where the armistice terms were formulated.

Return of Troops.
 The military officials looked to-day to the breaking up, and return to civilian life of the great army mobilized in the past nineteen months. Any further increase of the military forces was checked yesterday through cancellation of all outstanding draft calls. The return home of the nearly 2,250,000 men overseas and the mustering out of the 1,500,000 troops in camps in this country will not come immediately. The United States having entered the war last, probably will be called upon to do much of the police and guard duty in France and Belgium. Future events in Russia are uncertain, and the small force there may have to be augmented.

Merchant Marine.
 The newly constituted and rapidly increasing merchant marine must not only bring the men from France and Belgium devastated by the war, back to the United States, but must carry to the lands of Southern Europe, long unproductive through lack of manpower, and even to the enemy nations, foodstuffs, clothing and the means of keeping them from starvation. Food Administrator Hoover and Chairman Hurley, of the Shipping Board, soon will leave the United States for Europe to survey the situation.

Industrially the change from war to peace is a reconstruction problem as the change from peace to war did. War contract plants must be converted to make the commodities of peace. The workers engaged in such plants must be assimilated in peace production. Wages.
 Wage standards, changed by the war, must be determined. The War Industries Board, the War Labor Board and other Governmental agencies must be continued or substitutes be created, in the opinion of officials, for the solution of these problems. The returned soldiers must have work and homes. This is a reconstruction question that Congress will be called upon to consider.

Government control of the railroads, longer insured for twenty-one months, must be decided as to permanency or abandonment, as well as the control of the telegraph and telephone systems. Supervision of food and fuel distribution and the fixing of prices for necessary commodities are other problems of reconstruction.

MAN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT AND KILLED NEAR CHILLIWACK

Chilliwack, Nov. 12.—George Patterson was instantly killed about eight o'clock last night by a youth named Nelson Johnston, who shot him in the stomach while attempting to hit a wounded bear. Patterson leaves a widow and two small children. He was a son-in-law of Joseph Crannick, of East Chilliwack.

The objective which Victoria must reach to achieve success is $5,000,000. The hoisting of the Honor Flag this morning was merely symbolic of the investment of $4,800,000, the city's actual quota. According to the statement made to The Times this morning by Island Chairman R. F. Taylor, $4,000,000 has already been invested, exclusive of the Provincial Government's subscription of $500,000. Mr. Taylor points out, however, that Victoria can, and should raise another $1,000,000 before the week is out. The city should be able to achieve her $5,000,000 exclusive of the investment of the Government. This means that every day this week about $175,000 must be invested. Yesterday the daily average was maintained, for over $200,000 was subscribed. This pace, say the officials, must not for a moment slacken.

Continue Vigorous Canvass.
 The canvass was begun anew this morning under the leadership of Kenneth Ferguson, who is determined that not a dollar less than the daily average necessary to raise the quota shall be forthcoming each day. The sales teams are now in competition to see which can secure the most subscriptions, and all signs point to a whirlwind finish to a most vigorous and successful campaign.

V. M. D. Invests.
 The officials at headquarters were notified this morning by Charles Spratt, President of the Victoria Machinery Depot, that his company intended to invest $25,000 in the loan. This is a typical sample of the practical patriotism of local business organizations which appreciate to the fullest extent that the continued prosperity of the of the Dominion depends upon the success of the loan.

termed, and also quote The Handelsblad as saying he is not wanted in Holland. Another dispatch says that officials of the Dutch Government and the German Minister at The Hague went to Eysden to meet the German exiles.

At Velp.
 London, Nov. 12.—Wilhelm Hohenzollern, the former German Kaiser, arrived Sunday at Count Bentinck's chateau of Middachten at Velp, near Arnhem, according to a dispatch to The Daily Express dated Sunday at Velp.

An Amsterdam dispatch to The Daily Express dated Sunday says that the former German Kaiserin is ill at Potsdam, near Berlin, and that the former Crown Princess is at her bedside.

Where Line Was.
 London, Nov. 12.—When the last shot was fired the Allied battlefield from the Dutch frontier to Switzerland was approximately as follows:

From the frontier of Holland north of Selsacte to Ghent, to the east of Audenarde, to Grammont, to the east of Mons, to the east of Maubeuge and thence east of the Franco-Belgian border to north of Rocroi. Thence the line was along the Meuse to Maastricht, to Sedan and across the river in the region of Stenay, then southeastward, south of Montmedy and northeast of Verdun to the Moselle near Pagny, northeast of Pont-a-Mousson. Thence the line paralleled the Lorraine frontier to west of Markirch, where it entered Alsace, whence it ran southward to Switzerland on a line about twenty miles west of the Rhine. France had been entirely cleared of the invaders except for the narrow strip of territory from the Meuse to Alsace.

SAYS STATES MUST ASSIST WITH FOOD

wheat bread; that we shall still require economy and elimination of waste in its consumption; that for the present we need conservation in our habits of condensed milk, and that ultimately we must extend this to all fats.

Sugar.
 "We can contemplate, at the most, maintaining fully three pounds per month of sugar per person of household sugar on the present outlook and we can, by the availability of Java sugar to Europe, begin at once to relax more restraints on sugar pending changes in Europe's policies. These are special features of the changes in policy, but the shifting of conservation from one commodity to another is not the whole policy. There is one policy which can not change, and that is the vital necessity of simple living, to economize in all consumption of commodities more or less substitutes for each other. We must realize that the spectre abroad now haunts the abundance of our table at home.

"The war has been brought to an end in no small measure by starvation itself and it can not be our business to maintain starvation after peace."

North America, Mr. Hoover said, will have to furnish sixty per cent of the world's supply of foodstuffs and the United States and the West Indies will be able to export 20,000,000 tons, as against a pre-war normal of 4,000,000 tons.

Mr. Hoover told the State Administrators that the Administration will be continued under the law when peace is proclaimed, and added: "I do not expect to see its renewal." "I look now," he said, "for a turn of the American food trades towards conservative and safe business."

NOV. 11 SUGGESTED AS CANADA'S FUTURE DAY OF THANKSGIVING

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—That November 11 ought to be made Canada's permanent Thanksgiving Day is a suggestion made by The Vancouver World to-day. Says The World:

"For years to come November 11 will be a day of thanksgiving in Canada. On that day Canada's participation in the greatest war for freedom in the world's history was crowned with victory.

"Why not make November 11 a permanent Thanksgiving Day, replacing the present movable feast? The time, the occasion and the historic significance could not be more appropriate."

THANKS FOR AID.

To the Editor, Please permit the use of your valued space, that I may make a public expression of thanks from myself and staff, and of gratitude from the patients at the Burdette Convalescent Home, for timely assistance and generous gifts since the beginning of the influenza epidemic.

To many ladies and gentlemen who kindly sent delicacies, and especially to the Sisters of St. Ann and to the Voluntary Aid Nurses, both of whom so willingly assisted with the actual care of the sick, and we sincerely gratefully. By their aid we were enabled to help many more than we could have done ordinarily, and we hope they may draw a great measure of satisfaction in the knowledge that they have helped to make easier the lot of the unfortunately afflicted.

CLOSING OF CHURCHES.

To the Editor,—"In the time of trouble He shall hide me in His pavilion: in the secret of His tabernacle shall He hide me." Psalm 27: 5.

The salvation of the righteous is of the Lord. He is their strength in the time of trouble." Psalm 27: 38. A medical health officer is not the arbiter of a people's religious rights, and the usurpation of such an authority, if persisted in, would result in the spiritual life of the nation. Christ Jesus amply proved the healing virtue of Christianity, and that its mission included the salvation of body as well as soul. Therefore the practice of His teachings, whether in public or in private, cannot be inimical to human health.

This is not a pagan country. A belief in God and the Christian religion is avowed by our Government and characterizes our institutions. But an intelligent belief in God does not place Christian churches in the same class with theatres and dance halls, and close them to the public as if they were sources of pestilence; rather is it the superstitious fear that evil can overcome good, a conclusion which, if true, would constitute the church a supersuitly and the Christian religion a mere fiction.

Everyone knows that the design of the Christian Church is to help mankind in time of trouble, not to shut its doors when its ministrations are most needed. What possible inspiration could a Christian derive from the thought that his church is not a safe place to be in time of trouble, or what possible respect for Christianity would such an attitude produce in the minds of unbelievers? The uncivilized heathen, viewing this hysterical ban upon places of public worship, would surely be justified in concluding that the God of the Christians is as helpless to protect His people from evil as are their own wooden idols.

The public worship of Almighty God is not a public danger, but should be considered a public necessity, and is no more detrimental to the health than to the morals of the community. The people, without fear, crowded the street cars, meet in the shops and through the streets in dense masses; why then should they be afraid to congregate in their beloved churches for prayer and thanksgiving to God?

They would not. It is possible that Christianity has made so little impression on the serious thought of the nation that a medical system, which acknowledges no higher authority or power than matter, can put a ban upon the public activities of the church as if they were not only useless but pernicious? To treat the power of God as if it were impotent to cope with a speck of matter too small to be seen with a microscope, and which therefore can only be supposed to exist, is not a dignified attitude for this twentieth century of Christianity.

When such things can be, it is time that the millstone of medical superstition be lifted from the neck of the church, that it may have the freedom to fill its rightful place in the world. The reconstruction period now at hand, the most critical period in human history, will make heavy demands upon Christianity, and it is highly important that the Christian church be not found wanting.

SUMMUM BONUM.

To the Editor, I think all the doctors in town will agree that for the precautionary measure taken by our Health Officer, Dr. Price, many of our residents who are with their families to-day, and conducting their businesses, would be under the sick out at Ross Bay. It bears me, Dr. Editor, why some of our religious people and their leaders in this matter will pose as law-abiding citizens only under restraint. In the British Empire, of which we are proud to be a part, is there anything of more value, with the vast work of reconstruction ahead of us, than human life? It seems, Dr. Editor, this business is showing up the difference between the secondary things in religion which are not really essential, and of little importance; and those which are of primary importance.

I am not an Anglican, or a Romanist, but I understand the great God they both profess to worship, has spoken these words, "The heaven is My throne, and the earth is My footstool; where is the house that ye build unto Me? And where is the place of My rest? For all those things have been, saith the Lord; but to this Man will I look, even to him that is poor, and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at My word." "Draw nigh to God and He will draw nigh to you, for the Lord is nigh them that call upon Him." I sometimes visit the different churches and believe in congregational worship. It has its rightful place; but all the health officers and religious leaders in the world are powerless to intervene between an individual and his Maker, or to prevent that access that the Almighty One has so graciously granted us through the only intermediary and Advocate, Christ Jesus. This is possible and real for all time; while the present ban is only a temporary congregational loss, and that for the time being for the good of the community.

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and the Dropped Stitches

Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard E. Garis.)

"One, two, three, four," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Mary at the cottage door," added Uncle Wiggly Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Oh! now you're making fun of me, went on the muskrat lady housekeeper, who was sitting on the front porch of the hollow stump bungalow at the seashore.

"Oh, no, I'm not," laughed the bunny. "I wouldn't do that for the world. But when you said one, two, three, four, I thought you were trying to say a little verse, so I finished it for you by saying Mary at the cottage door."

"I'm not saying verses," spoke Nurse Jane. "I'm counting stitches. You see I'm knitting you a warm sweater for the winter that will soon be here, and I have to count the stitches."

"What for?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"To see that I have just the right number on my knitting-needles and so I don't drop any," went on Nurse Jane.

"Do you mean you drop stitches on the porch?" asked the bunny looking down as if he expected to see them rolling around as Nurse Jane's thimble sometimes did, or the way his collar button behaved when it was naughty.

"Oh, no! I don't really drop the stitches," went on the muskrat lady. "When I say I drop them, I mean they slip off my needles. They just sort of disappear, like soap bubbles, without going anywhere, and I have to make, or pick up, new stitches in the yarn. Now, please, don't bother me, as I have to count—knit two, purl one, and so on."

"My! Knitting is a lot of work," said the bunny, as he went off the porch to take a walk along the seashore sand.

It was getting rather lonesome down at the beach. The animal children had gone back to school and Uncle Wiggly, as he saw the waves washing the face of the sand, said to himself:

"Well, it will soon be time for me to go back, too. I guess I'll go tell Nurse Jane that we'll pack up next week, and go back to our bungalow in the woods."

Uncle Wiggly hopped on and on, rather hoping he might have an adventure, and then, as he didn't see any queer happenings swimming to meet him, he turned around to go back to the hollow stump bungalow.

As he neared it, he took off his tall silk hat to wave to Nurse Jane, who, he thought, would be sitting on the porch, but to his surprise, as he went up the steps, instead of the muskrat lady, he saw, sitting in her chair, a bad old monkey baboon. And the bad monkey baboon had taken Nurse Jane's knitting.

"Oh oh! Uncle Wiggly!" cried the monkey, "you are just in time."

"In time for what?" the bunny wanted to know.

"In time for me to pinch your nose," was the answer.

"I haven't pinched it in a long time, but I'm going to now. I just got here, and I thought I'd try my pinching time, since Nurse Jane has gone away and left everything here for me."

"Oh! Nurse Jane has gone away,"

Joseph Martin, K. C., M. P., was in the city for a few hours yesterday.

Mrs. A. Sheffield, of Singapore, Straits Settlements, is registered at the Empress Hotel.

Local friends of Miss Josephine Toulle, who spent the past two years in this city as the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. C. Ives, will doubtless be interested to hear of her marriage to Harold Champ Beckett, of Detroit, formerly Lieutenant attached to the 120th Battalion, C. E. F. The marriage took place at St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit, on October 20. Mr. and Mrs. Beckett, after a trip to New York, will reside at Sheraton Court Apartments, Second Avenue, Detroit, where the groom is a well-known architect.

The official London Gazette of recent date contains the announcement that the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the promotion of the Marquis of Aberdeen and Temair to the rank of Knight of the King's Body Guard for Scotland (Royal Company of Archers) to that of captain. In the Royal Company of Archers the rank of captain is the highest, that of ensign next, and the first and junior rank of officers is that of brigadier. The captain-general is now the Earl of Rosebery, who succeeded in that position the late Duke of Buccleuch. Lord Aberdeen's second son, Lord Dudley Gordon, who lately received the D. S. O. for distinguished conduct in action, is now Lieutenant-Colonel, commanding his regiment, the 5th Gordon Highlanders.

VICTORIA RED CROSS EXECUTIVE APPEALS FOR UNCEASING EFFORT

"To correct a possible misunderstanding as to the effect of the cessation of active hostilities on the work and needs of the Canadian Red Cross Society, we make the following statement on behalf of the Victoria Branch:

"The ordinary work of the Red Cross in caring for the sick, wounded and prisoners of war of the Allied Nations must be continued for a year or more, as the signing of an armistice or a treaty of peace cannot suddenly end the needs of those who are suffering.

"The work of helping to care for convalescent soldiers in England and Canada will occupy the Red Cross for an indefinite period.

"The class of work carried on will no doubt be modified, and other urgent needs will take the place of bandages and dressings no longer required in quantity.

"To-day the Red Cross makes a special appeal for help in its work of making warm clothing for the repatriated refugees of Northern France, Belgium and Serbia. The necessities of the sick and homeless among these people are a direct result of the war and therefore come within the sphere of the Red Cross.

"The Red Cross Society appeals to all workers to continue their help and to the public for generous financial support.

"Money is required to meet current accounts which are very large, and more will be needed to carry on. One way to help this week is to buy more Victory Bonds, and give the Bonds to the Red Cross."

"OUT AND HOME AGAIN."

Hark to the sound of a thousand feet, Timed to the restless, rhythmic beat; The lure of the faithful drum.

All of them heroes, khaki-clad, See them; here they come. With feet and song they pass along.

It's a stirring thing to hear men sing, When to-morrow praps they die; To hear men sing and their laughter ring, When to-morrow praps they die.

Hark to the rumbling, shattering roar! Guns of every make and bore, Rupturing all the air;

Raining death in a ghastly hail, Well might the bravest spirits quail In the dreadful "Over There."

But shell for shell our boys repel The bloody foe advance, And drive them back, the wolf grey pack, From the fields of martyred France.

Yes: Drive them back with their banner of black, From the fields of martyred France.

Hark to the glad, tumultuous cheer! One in all with the silent tears— The throbs of a city's heart, Cheers that speak of a nation's pride, Tears for those who have nobly died, Playing a hero's part.

With sober mien, alert and keen, From the plains of death they come. It's a stirring thing the welcoming, Of a nation's heroes home.

For Love is king at the welcoming Of a nation's heroes home.

FORMER VICTORIA GIRL DECORATED

Miss Genevieve Grant, of Seattle, Receives Official Recognition of War-Work

Local friends of Miss Genevieve Grant, daughter of John Grant, of Victoria, former Mayor of this city for the years 1888 to 1891, will be interested to hear that she has been awarded a Belgian decoration in recognition of her work in Seattle on behalf of Belgian relief.

In chronicling the award, The Seattle Post-Intelligencer says in part:

"A woman, a Seattle resident for twelve years, Miss Genevieve Grant, of 204 Harvard Avenue North, has been awarded a decoration by the Aide Civile and Militaire Belge, an organization under the patronage of the Queen of Belgium, with which Miss Grant has since the beginning of Belgium's devastation worked in behalf of the needy inhabitants of that strip of land over the border from France uninvaded by the Germans. The silver medal carrying the Belgian coat-of-arms is presented Miss Grant in recognition of her relief work in behalf of those whom she reached through the Aide Civile and Militaire of Belgium. She received it but three days ago.

Sent 10,000 Articles.

The headquarters of the organization is at Fopinghain, Belgium. The hospital Elizabeth, many schools, thirty-five centres to preserve lacemaking, orphanages, "creches" for the babies, all come under the jurisdiction of the Aide Civile and Militaire Belge. The directress is the Countess Van den Steen de Jehay, lady-in-waiting to the Queen. Miss Grant has sent 10,000 articles of clothing to Belgium, some of it new, some made over by the many women she has interested in the cause. All over the State of Washington the Pythian Sisters have co-operated with her. A friend of the Queen of Belgium and also of the Queen of Roumania interested Miss Grant in this cause. Miss Grant has also sent 2,000 articles of apparel and boxes of miscellaneous goods to Roumania through the United States legation in London.

Business Methods.

The Seattle woman is an indefatigable war worker. A business woman, with years of experience in the commercial world, she carries a business-like efficiency into all her war endeavours, and they are many. She is active as vice-president of the Overseas Club, member of the Canadian Women's Club and representative in this city of the Blue Cross, that big organization founded in Great Britain to care for the Allied horses and dogs, brave war-time sufferers. Miss Grant wears a medal presented to her by Maj. Ronald Tupper, for her recruiting work in behalf of the 22nd Scottish Highlanders. A stamp designed by Miss Grant and made by Dennison is being sold broadcast over the country by the Seattle Overseas Club. The proceeds go to a war memorial to be installed in Seattle, and the other half to the great memorial that the national organization of the Overseas Club, with headquarters in London, is at present at work on. A model village is to be built for men who are more or less physically disabled from wounds received in service—a village where they will find happiness in remunerative employment in congenial surroundings.

"Fragments From France." "During the past fifteen months Miss Grant has raised $4,000 in what she calls 'scraps,' the proceeds garnered from a number of original ideas she has set going in behalf of war relief endeavours. On May 24 she organized a dance under the auspices of the Overseas Club on behalf of the mine-sweepers, the men who sweep the deadly, sinking life and suffering exposure at all times. January 5 Miss Grant is bringing to Seattle the 'Fragments From France,' a group of wounded Canadians. These men formed a football club in Victoria, B. C. So far this season's team has not been defeated. Miss Grant is arranging to have them play a team from the various shipyards of the city."

WAR AND THE SUGAR BOWL

No. 2.

Shall we face the sugar shortage in Canada honorably and courageously? Or are we going on quietly hoarding even if only a little in every home? Manufacturers, confectioners and public eating places are doing their share well. Soldiers and munitions workers want sugar more than the persons doing ordinary work. Let them have it. It must come from the private homes; there only is there hoarding, however slight in every individual case. Don't be mean for the sake of a sweet tooth.—Canada Food Board.

500 TIMES SWEETER THAN SUGAR

A romantic history is attached to the discovery of saccharin. The discoverer of the chemical derivative of coal tar, to which the name saccharin is popularly given, is Dr. Ira Remsen, Chief Consulting Chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture. He was at first very enthusiastic as to the possibilities of this artificial sweetstuff, which has a sweetening power about 500 times that of sugar. Its manufacture was organized on a large scale, and soon enormous quantities were being used in making ice cream and the soda-water syrups to which Americans are addicted.

Dr. Remsen was making an income of something like $20,000 a year from his shares in the company, when about five years ago his friend Dr. Wylie, head of the United States Pure Food Bureau, suggested a doubt of the wholesomeness of saccharin.

Dr. Remsen thereupon submitted himself to rigorous tests of the action of saccharin on the digestive organs and on the heart. As a result he asked the department to issue an order prohibiting its use as a food-sweetener.

ENTIRE POPULATION TURNS OUT FOR VAST CELEBRATION

City Wildly Enthusiastic Over Signature of Armistice; Army and Navy Given Vociferous Reception; Parade to Beacon Hill

Practically the entire population of the City of Victoria, supplemented by large numbers of visitors from the neighboring districts, turned loose yesterday in one boundless demonstration of enthusiastic and happy feeling at the conclusion of the war which has ended in victory over the world's greatest and most modern tyrant.

Following the spread of the news about the city that a monster parade was to be held at three o'clock, the people flocked into the streets and it is safe to say that every man, woman and child who was able to do so repaired to the business section of the town in order to be "in" on the celebration.

Grand Procession

The grand procession formed in various thoroughfares in the vicinity of the corner of Blanshard Street and Yates Street, from which position the parade moved off, but long before that time the streets were thronged with happy people.

With four bands filling the air with strains of martial music, the great parade moved off, while thousands of people packed the time of march and made it almost impossible to proceed in places. Banners and flags were raised aloft, and never before in the history of Victoria has such a scene of color and animation been witnessed.

The incessant reports of firecrackers and bombs, the tooting of horns, fangling of bells and the cheering and laughter of the participants served to turn the parade into one joyful triumphal procession.

Cheers for Warriors

From the tops of buildings and from the crowds on the curb confetti and streamers were flung. Loud cheers went up as the splendid Army and Navy units of the parade passed by with swinging step. There was no doubt left in the minds of the warriors by land and sea as to the sense of appreciation so spontaneously expressed from the very hearts of the vast throng.

It was conceded by all that before had Victoria enjoyed "seeing" such a large and animated procession. It was indeed a triumphal march through the city and many a returned man must have had recalled to mind by the event the joyousness with which he and his comrades were received on marching through the streets of liberated communities "Over There."

There was not an expression of ill-feeling nor an accident of even a minor sort to mar the pleasure of the proceedings. Everybody brought their good feelings with them and the small boy who industriously endeavored to time his firecracker so that it would explode as near as possible to some vulnerable point in the human anatomy was not even scolded for his naughtiness, though there were many who considered that this dangerous practice should not have been resorted to.

Effigy of Kaiser

The feature of the parade that caused no end of amusement was the effigy of the Kaiser, which, dangled from the end of the big aerial truck forming part of the City Fire Department's unit in the procession. The Kaiser in his uniform of field grey and wearing a large iron cross over his right breast did not look at all happy or dignified as an array of small boys chased after him, poking him in the ribs and inflicting all sorts of indignities on his august person. One boy actually walked up and forced the gentlemanly to kick himself in the eye with his own boot.

Like a Red Rag

An interesting incident took place in connection with this effigy last night. After the exercises at Beacon Hill Park the men at the fire hall took the effigy to headquarters, and about eight o'clock it was taken out and made to walk about the streets of Victoria. A genuine Imperial flag of Germany decorated one side of the figure, while that of Austria waved from the other shoulder.

Just as the crowd neared the corner of Yates Street and Douglas Street, however, where the whole was to be consumed in flames, a military officer came riding up in an automobile. Seeing the emblems of the hated enemy fluttering aloft and not knowing what was afoot, he dashed across to the men and demanded to know what those hated flags were doing there. He was quickly informed to his satisfaction.

THAT BOY OF YOURS

He is not seriously wounded. Not. But he never tells you of the pain he sometimes suffers because of a blistered foot after marching. He said not a word of how the ground near where he is billeted reeks with old gas which irritates cuts and sores and makes them ten-fold more painful and serious. He considers these the "little things."

For just such serious "little things" Zam-Buk is provided. It soothes the pain, draws the inflammation from cut or blister and heals eruptions and sores. In the homes of Canada, mothers consider it a necessity. How much more necessary is it out yonder where your boy is!

See to it that he has a supply! Perhaps he gave that last box you sent to a comrade, so in your next parcel don't forget to replace it. Put Zam-Buk in every parcel you send, for the boys all say "send us more."

Zam-Buk

Reserves, the naval branch of the service, being greeted with unbounded enthusiasm.

No less than 3,000 men of the Siberian expeditionary force now in training at the Willows took part in the parade under command of Gen. Bickford.

Serving Women

The Red Cross and the Blue Cross, whose splendid services will still be required for some time, even though the war has ended, were represented. One car carried the ladies from Red Cross headquarters, and another those from the Blue Cross organization.

Labor was well represented by a large body of members of the Shipyard, Hoppers, the Shipwrights and Caulkers' Union, Carpenters, International Association of Machinists and representatives of the Trades and Labor Council. The Metal Trades Council and other local labor organizations rode in motor cars. The labor delegation was divided into two sections, one hundred members of the British Campaigners and a large delegation of the Army and Navy Veterans occupying the intervening space.

The Fire Department

Fire Chief Davis and Assistant Chief Stewart, in charge of a contingent of firemen and five pieces of apparatus, formed a portion of the parade, and an excellent showing was made by the local department.

Loan Campaigners

The Victory Loan Campaigners were busy throughout the day and took full advantage of the opportunity afforded by the procession, in which they took part. The Returned Soldiers from the Dugout were not slow either in proclaiming to the public from the top of a decorated motor car the duty that lies at the door of every loyal citizen in respect to the purchase of bonds.

Army and Navy Veterans

The feeling of feeling continued until late in the evening. The Legislative buildings were illuminated in honor of the great occasion, and

"The Day"

The war is won.

The guns are silent—the trenches are vacant—bloodshed has ceased—democracy is triumphant—Freedom is assured.

Germany, the beaten, whimpering bully of the Nations, lies stripped of power, whining for mercy, shudderingly awaiting the righteous retribution to be exacted for his fiendish crimes against an outraged civilization.

A war-born world is nursing its wounds and planning for a future peace and universal freedom.

In this day of thankful joy and glorious triumph let us not forget the imperative duty lying immediately before us.

Let us manfully, dutifully and determinedly round out the nation's splendid effort.

Let us be as big in this triumphant day as our men have been heroic in the fiery din and bloody peril of battle.

thither a vast crowd wended its way, lured by the patriotic airs played by the Army and Navy Veteran's Band, which gave a splendid concert. Some two thousand people joined in the singing of the popular and patriotic airs, which were interspersed with ringing cheers.

In the downtown business section, crowds of young and old celebrated each according to his or her own ideas and as 'throughout the day, noise-producing instruments were most popular. Thousands of fire crackers contributed to the din, tin horns blantly challenged the air, and the rearward of empty tins dragged behind automobiles added their quota to the deafening noise.

Talcum Bombardment.
The supply of confetti in the stores having been exhausted early, some inventive genius seized upon the inspiration to use talcum powder as a weapon and the idea quickly gained in popularity. A raid was made upon the drug stores. Battles royal took place among members of the younger set and hair and dress "a la poudre" quickly became the order of the evening while the streets soon were covered with a film of the fragrant powder. Paper streamers lost not one whit of their popularity and the most staid citizen counted it an honor to be seen draped in a cloud of the filmy ribbons.

Percy: "A'wfully glad the war's ovah in Fwance."
Doris: "What are you talking about? The war isn't even beginning to end."
Percy: "A' didn't say it was. A' merely said A' was glad it was ovah in Fwance."

FRENCH MAGAZINES NEEDED FOR TROOPS

Many French-Canadians at Willows; Y. M. C. A. Recognized Channel of Distribution

The appeal for magazines and papers for the use of the quarantined men at the Willows Camp has met with a generous response, and the literature has been much appreciated by the men, who have found time hang rather heavily on their hands owing to the curtailment of leave. To the many French-Canadians who compose almost one entire battalion—the 259th—the English papers and books have been of little use, and on their behalf the Military Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. issues an appeal for French magazines, papers or books for their entertainment. There are doubtless many residents of the city who have a supply of French literature which they would be glad to pass on to these troops.

The Y. M. C. A. is the accepted channel of distribution of fruit and delicacies in the hospital isolation area, and the secretary receives a daily list of the needs of the patients and convalescents from those in charge. Only by such organized distribution can the generous donors be assured of the supplies of good things reaching those for whom they are intended, and thus prevent any overlapping. In this way the service "belongs to everyone," and those who can help in the supply of delicacies are requested to communicate with Miss Finlayson, Secretary of the Red Triangle Auxiliary who is in touch with the situation. She will gladly advise intending donors so that the best results may be obtained in the distribution.

MODERN MIRACLES.

"Do I know anything of Dr. Carrel?" said an R. A. M. C. officer. "Well, it would be strange if I didn't, for he is one of the most remarkable men living—a man who has probably saved more lives and limbs than any other surgeon in history."

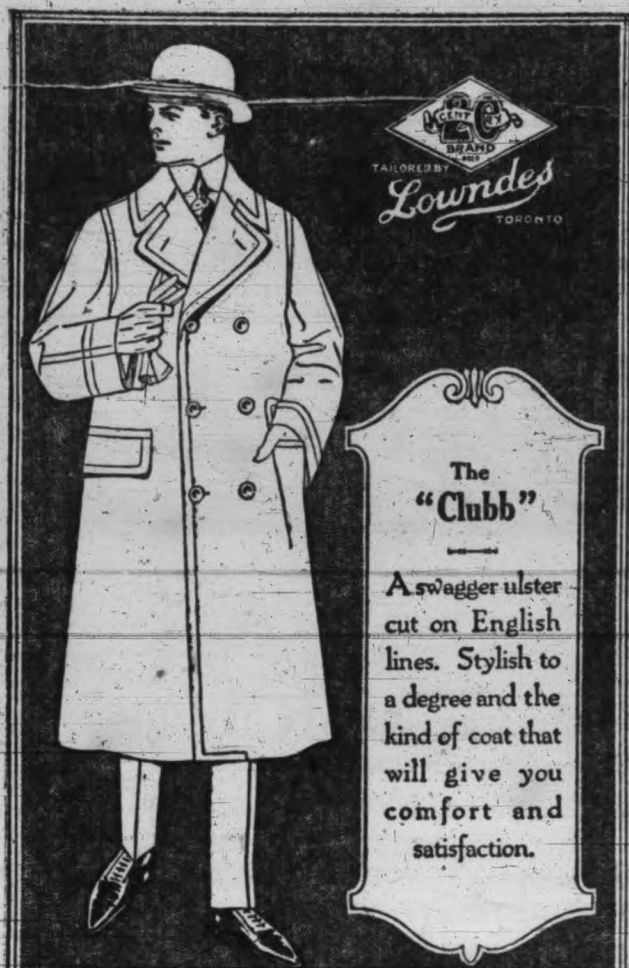

"I first heard of Carrel about six years ago when he was astonishing the world by his uncanny and almost miraculous feats of surgery. Short of actually restoring the dead to life, there seemed to be nothing he couldn't do."

"Among other astonishing feats, I remember, he removed the heart from a chicken and kept it beating 194 days after its removal. He grafted the leg of a dead dog to a living one and changed his main artery and the jugular vein."

Magical Properties.
"It was, however, when the war began that Carrel found his true meter as a savior of life. When he learned that all known methods of sterilizing wounds were proving futile against the soil-infected wounds in France and Flanders, he set to work to discover a new method that would be effective. After a few months of experimenting he discovered a miraculous antiseptic solution."

"Its magical properties were soon recognized, and it was quickly adopted in every hospital in France with the most amazing results. Thousands of limbs were restored to use; thousands of lives otherwise doomed have been saved. Tens of thousands of soldiers are alive and well to-day who would have been crippled for life or dead but for Dr. Alexis Carrel."—Tit-Bits.

PROVINCIAL DIRECTORY IS NOW PUBLISHED

New Work Compiled by Wrigley's, Ltd., Invaluable to Business Men

Will F. Norris, of Vancouver, is a visitor in the city on business connected with the arranging for the handling of sales of the combined year book, gazetteer and directory just published by the Wrigley Directories, Limited. Mr. Norris expects to remain in Victoria for the next two weeks.

The new work has occupied a large staff in its compilation for the past ten months. It is a veritable "multum in parvo," and will fill a long-felt want in the province and indeed throughout the Dominion, as it contains a mine of information concerning British Columbia.

The first sixty out of the 1,000 pages in the book give a list of the officials of the various Government departments, both at Victoria and throughout the province, with an historical review and short articles by the various provincial ministers outlining the jurisdiction of their departments, and indicating the great resources of the province.

In the gazetteer portion of the work a total of 2,010 cities, towns, villages and settlements are listed, in addition to 4,193 geographical points, enabling the reader to at once obtain the location and description of any town, village, mountain or lake, etc. In all places where local directories are not published, the inhabitants are listed in the provincial directory. In each instance the business or employment is given. In the case of farmers and ranchers, the branches of agriculture followed is given, making the directory of very special value to business firms, or to parties seeking to identify others by their occupation. Towns as large as Nelson, with populations over 4,000, are thus described, and its inhabitants described, equally with the smaller settlements on the banks of the Upper Skeena, with only half a dozen inhabitants.

A classified business directory, with all the business men of the province classified under 1,325 different classifications, is given, forming a valuable business mailing list of the province. At the end of the directory a novel section comprises a directory of trade names, brands and trademarks, so that the merchant or householder who knows only the trade name can immediately find on reference the manufacturer or agent in British Columbia who makes or handles the required line of goods.

In addition the work has the merit of being a "Made in B. C." article, being printed bound and published in Vancouver.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parment's double strength, drop it into the ear of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should be open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

MAKES ESCAPE FROM SUNKEN SUBMARINE

British Petty Officers' Thrilling Fight for Life for Two Hours

One of the most remarkable experiences of the war is that of a British stoker petty officer who escaped in a miraculous manner from one of the British submarines which had sunk in home waters from an accidental cause. Alone, in almost complete darkness, with the gradually rising water, receiving electric shocks, and towards the end suffering from the effects of chlorine gas and a badly crushed hand, he worked on for nearly two hours, keeping his head to the last, and at the seventh attempt at opening the hatch succeeded in escaping.

Water was pouring in at the lower conning tower hatch in a mighty volume, so that his chances of closing it were perfectly hopeless. His only hope of escaping drowning was to shut himself in the engine-room. Getting in, he closed the doors. A pilot lamp was the only light. The effect of the salt water on the electric batteries was to generate chlorine gas, and the air was becoming overpowering. The water had short-circuited the electric light, so that practically everything he touched gave him a shock.

He tried to think of a means of escape, and conceived the idea of opening the hatch and floating to the surface, but the tremendous pressure of the water outside prevented his moving it. He had always accepted the theory that the pressure inside a sunken air-tight vessel could be greater than the pressure outside. So to increase the pressure inside he opened a valve and admitted more water. Then he opened the hatch, but it instantly closed to smother him, he had insufficient pressure. With his shoulder he lifted the hatch, but again it slammed to, crushing his fingers. He once more opened the valve and admitted water until the engine-room was flooded. Right up to the coming of the hatch. The air in this confined space was under tremendous pressure, greater than that of the water outside, so he was able to open the hatch and rise rapidly to the surface, where he was picked up by a destroyer.

BIRDS BEAT BIRDMEN.

The connection between the flight of a bird and the flying of an aeroplane is obvious; yet, in spite of the wonderful results obtained by birdmen, Nature retains the advantage over man in flying.

An ordinary swallow can travel 126 miles in an hour, and there is record of a swallow that flew from Antwerp to Compiegne, 148 miles, in sixty-eight minutes, attaining an average speed of 128 miles an hour.

The swooping vulture whizzes through the air at 149 miles an hour. Perhaps a falling aeroplane, or a Hun machine escaping from a British pilot, may go that rapidly, but 100 miles an hour is a good rate to travel for a birdman. However, aeroplanes are constantly being improved, and some are exceedingly speedy; 108 to 135 miles an hour has been claimed at the Front, but at this speed the aeroplane is in constant danger.

Birds can fly for twenty-four hours at a stretch, but eight hours flying is sufficient for an aviator. As yet, no aviator can cross the Atlantic Ocean, but cuckoos travel from England to Africa.

It has been estimated that at 10,000 feet altitude kites and hawks can see field mice, their eyes being twenty times stronger than those of man. At the same height an aviator must have powerful glasses to see even large buildings and rivers.—The Daily.

COMPETITION WILL BE STIMULATED BY COMING OF PEACE

Merchants Keener Than Ever to Win Coveted Emblem

NEW FIRMS JOIN IN LOAN CONTEST

Probably the most effective weapon wielded by the local Victory Loan officials, or the Honor Emblem competition which brings into play a spirit of rivalry among business concerns and spurs them on to fresh efforts. George Bushby, in charge of the competition, has had trouble lining up a sufficient number of business companies in the front rank of one hundred per cent patriots, and by this time the store or office which does not display an emblem is conspicuous. The merchants are eager to see their premises well up in the list, and to show that their employees are ready to go the limit when the national need is greatest.

The peace celebrations yesterday on account of the closing of the stores, detracted considerably from the competition. But the coming of peace has not in any way altered the determination of business men to continue their investments, for they realize that money is more necessary now than it ever was. Peace, therefore, should be a stimulant, not a deterrent to the contest.

The Sinews of Peace.
For four years we have been supplying the sinews of war," George Bushby remarked, "but now that there is a cessation of hostilities we must be most careful that there shall be no weakening of the sinews of peace—for we have a solemn duty, which is also our privilege, to keep up with our soldier boys and our Allies. We must go deeper still into our pockets. This our 1918 Victory Loan must indeed be made worthy of its name."

Showing the Wind.
In the Victory Loan competition we have the means of proving to the rest of Canada and to the world, that Victoria is loyal to the core, and the 100 per cent Honor Emblem in every window is the way to prove it.

A Bond Beside the Flag.
We have been parading the streets, waving flags and showing our enthusiasm in various ways, but it lies with the conscience of every man and woman in our community to have the knowledge that there is a Victory Bond in the pocket to back up the waving flag in the hand."

The Honor List.
The following firms secured "places in the sun" up to noon yesterday:

Senior List.
H. J. P. Lee, Richardson & Stephens, Fletcher Bros. Music Store, Plimley's Bicycle Store, Vancouver, Portland Cement Co. (European Staff), Begg Motor Co., Ltd., Saanich Municipal Hall Staff, Columbia Paper Co., Ltd., Western Grocery Co., New England Market Co., G. N. W. Telegraph Co., Staff.

Junior List.
W. Williams and family, Household Necessities, Louisa & Genes Barber Shop, Dominion Hand Laundry, George M. Stevenson and family, W. E. Loese and family, Oppenheimer Bros. Messrs. Oppenheimer Bros. have sent down a firm subscription to be applied in Victoria, bringing the Victoria office up to 100 per cent, honor the same as in Vancouver.

Two Victory Bond canvassers wrote up the entire staffs of Fletcher Brothers' Music Store and Plimley's Bicycle Store. That shows the power of the Honor Emblem competition and also the loyalty of Victoria citizens.

OPEN-AIR SERVICE HELD YESTERDAY

Vast Crowd on Cathedral Hill Joined in Impressive Service

One of the most impressive services ever held in Victoria took place on Cathedral Hill yesterday when a gathering estimated at nearly one thousand persons offered up thanks to the Almighty for the cessation of hostilities. Bishop Schofield conducted the service, and in his opening address called upon the vast congregation to offer up to God their heartfelt thanks for the victorious outcome of four years of warfare; to remember the gallant heroes who had given their all for the cause of freedom; to offer a blessing for the comfort of the bereaved and to ask for Divine guidance for the Allies in their future actions.

Under the leadership of Dr. Watson, Cathedral organist, the congregation sang "The Old Hundred," "All People That on Earth Do Dwell," concluding with the Doxology.

The Bishop then offered the old prayer, "Thanksgiving After Victory." This was followed by the reading of the 124th Psalm by the Rev. Dr. Leslie Clay.

Dean C. S. Quainton led the prayers, concluding each one with the words, "Lord, hear our prayer," to which the congregation responded, "Let our cry come unto thee."

"The hymn, 'O God, Our Help in Ages Past' was sung. Following this the Bishop asked for God's help in the removal of the influenza epidemic. Then came the blessing.

In conclusion the National Anthem was sung, with the addition of the verse, "God save our splendid men."

Mr. G. F. Willis, International Distributor Tanlac, Fourth National Bank Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Willis—
We are glad to inform you that since we accepted the wholesale distributing agency for Tanlac in this territory, March 14, 1918, we have sold and distributed 48,624 bottles of the medicine and with the car that is now en route to us from the factory, we have purchased over 60,000 bottles of your preparation.

It will no doubt be of interest to you to know that the widespread popularity of Tanlac has been a big surprise to us, even in spite of the fact that we have been in the wholesale drug business in this territory for so many years. Tanlac now holds the front rank of all our preparations and is the undisputed leader with our trade.

In addition to the participating clergymen, Col. the Rev. G. H. Andrews, Rev. J. W. Flinton and Rev. F. H. Fatt were present in their vestments, and several ministers of other city churches were present among the congregation.

According to the official organ of the American Expeditionary Force, the "Buddies" smoke 16,000,000 packets of cigarettes every month; during the same period they dispose of 3,000,000 cigars, 165 tons of butter, chocolate, and 20,000,000 sticks of chewing gum.

45,000 BOTTLES AT RETAIL IN 7 MONTHS

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 15, 1918.
Mr. G. F. Willis, International Distributor of Tanlac, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir—
I have been closely identified with the drug trade in this city for the past twenty years, and in all my experience we have never handled anything in the way of a proprietary medicine that even approaches Tanlac as a seller.

In less than seven months' time we have sold and distributed, through our five stores, forty-five thousand (45,000) bottles, and I believe I will be entirely safe in saying that this amount of business in so short a time establishes a new sales record not only for Seattle, but for entire Pacific Coast States.

On last Saturday alone we sold in our five stores over four hundred bottles of Tanlac. The sales are now averaging over two hundred bottles each and every day and the demand is increasing rapidly.

Tanlac, the Celebrated Medicine Which Has Been Accomplishing Remarkable Results in the United States and Eastern Canada, Will Now Be Sold in Victoria and Throughout British Columbia—Remarkable Sales Record of Ten Million Bottles Phenomenal and Unprecedented

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout the United States and Canada, and which has been having a phenomenal sale in leading cities of the East and South, will now be sold in Victoria and throughout British Columbia. The amazing success achieved by this medicine in only three years' time is not only phenomenal but unprecedented.

The discovery of Tanlac, the beginning of its manufacture, the establishment of the large and modern laboratories at Dayton, O., occupying more than 60,000 feet of floor space, reads more like fiction than facts from latter-day commercial history.

TEN MILLION BOTTLES SOLD IN THREE YEARS.

Although placed on the market but little more than three years ago, over ten million bottles have been sold, and its sales record probably has never been equaled in the history of the drug business in America.

From coast to coast and from the Gulf to the Great Lakes, Tanlac is known and honored. Millions have taken it and have pronounced it the greatest medicine of all time. No matter where you go throughout the United States, whether East, West, North or South, Tanlac is a household word and is now unquestionably the most widely talked of medicine in the world to-day.

Briefly, this is the record of the truly marvelous medicine which will now be placed within the reach of everyone. In only a few weeks' time it will be placed on sale in practically every large city, town, village and hamlet throughout the entire West.

To use the words of L. T. Cooper, noted health expert and millionaire manufacturer of Tanlac, there is only one explanation of the nation-wide popularity and record-breaking demand, and that is very simple. The inherent purity and wholesomeness of the medicine has confirmed it in the minds of the people and made it a household word. That, and that alone, is the secret of the marvelous expansion of the Tanlac business.

Mr. Cooper's unique theories on health and right living have attracted attention all over the country and have been the cause of considerable scientific discussion. It is conceded by all well-informed persons that he is a man of extraordinary ability and wonderful insight into the fundamental principles of hygiene. This new preparation, which promises to mark a new era in medical science, was perfected only after years of study and experimenting in the Cooper laboratories.

PROMINENT MEN OUT FOR TANLAC

Mayors, Judges, Lawyers, Doctors, Ministers and Leading Educators Have Endorsed It

One of the most striking and noteworthy features in connection with the introduction of Tanlac throughout the United States and Canada is the large number of prominent men who have unhesitatingly and voluntarily come forward and given their unqualified endorsement.

These well-known men of affairs represent practically every branch of professional and commercial life, and included in the list appears the names of distinguished supreme court judges, mayors of our leading cities, prominent State and County officials, bankers, lawyers, doctors, editors, leading educators, Government officials and even ministers of the Gospel.

These men have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell the people what this medicine has done for them, for they have recognized in Tanlac a new discovery and a scientific triumph in the medical world. It is a well-known fact that these splendid endorsements have been given Tanlac time and time again, and they will continue to be given just as often as new tests of its powers are made. It must be borne in mind, however, that the published testimonials represent only one in a thousand who have been benefited by its use.

Among the large number of prominent men whose endorsements have appeared in the public press within the past few months are the names of such well-known and distinguished men as the following:

Hon. Frank V. Evans, former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., and at one time editor of The Birmingham Age-Herald.
Dr. G. W. De La Perriere, of Windsor, Ga., one of the best known physicians and capitalists in the State of Georgia.
Rev. W. C. Norton, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, 1000 North Street, Jacksonville, Fla.
Hon. C. W. Mangum, of Atlanta, Sheriff of Fulton County, Georgia.
Mr. C. C. Cooper, president of the Georgia Home Cotton Oil Co., Lawrenceville, Ga.
Dr. W. H. Brown, founder and president of the Tennessee Protestant Home for Girls. And many others too numerous to mention.

DENVER JOBBER
SELLS 75,648 BOTTLES
IN EIGHT MONTHS

Denver, Colo., Nov. 1, 1918.
National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Ltd., Vancouver, B. C.

I find upon reference to our records that since we became distributors for Tanlac in this territory we have sold to the agents 75,648 bottles of Tanlac, and this in a section long on territory and short on population.

I must confess that the story of the success of Tanlac in other fields, when it first came to us, would have sounded something like a fairy tale but for the fact that we had some advance information about what had been done in other territory, and we otherwise would have been exceedingly skeptical.

Mr. Willis has made good on all he promised to do in this territory, and, therefore, we are at all times happy and can be depended on to carry out any verbal or written contract he may make.

I consider that no dealer will make a mistake in taking on the Tanlac agency in his territory.

Yours very sincerely,
W. A. HOVER & CO.

PRESIDENT STATE BOARD ENDORSES IT

Dr. Wm. E. Bingham, of Alabama, After Close Observation, Says Tanlac is Producing Splendid Results

The following letter from Dr. Wm. E. Bingham, president of the State Board of Pharmacy of Alabama, is probably the first endorsement ever given a proprietary medicine by an official of this department of a State government, and the same is sufficient answer to anyone who doubts the high esteem in which Tanlac is held by leading druggists everywhere. Dr. Bingham's letter follows:

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jan. 21, 1916.
Mr. G. F. Willis, Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Mr. Willis—

In reply to yours of recent date, I am pleased to advise that the Bingham Drug Company has never handled anything that even approached Tanlac in popularity. We have sold 1,100 bottles since securing the agency and it is going here at the rate of 500 bottles per month.

Everyone here who has taken Tanlac speaks of it in the very highest terms, and the repeat orders from those who have used it are remarkably numerous and show conclusively that it is giving great satisfaction. It is the talk of the town, and everybody seems anxious to recommend it to his neighbor.

I have been interested in it as a medicine and have observed the satisfactory use of Tanlac in a number of local cases of chronic disorders. You could get some excellent testimonials here for it has produced remarkable results in a number of cases.

We value our agency highly, and can say that we have never handled anything that gives as much general satisfaction as Tanlac.

Our sales are increasing continually, and I desire to express our sincere appreciation of the co-operation you have accorded us.

Very truly yours,
BINGHAM DRUG COMPANY,
Per Wm. E. Bingham.

WORLD RECORD IS BROKEN BY TANLAC

Tanlac has brought a new romance to the commercial world. It is the story of an acceptance and appreciation of merit never before attained by a proprietary medicine. Staid business men, to whom the actual figures of the production of Tanlac have been presented, have gazed until the proof was shown. The production of Tanlac now stands at the rate of almost four million bottles per year. The exact figures are 3,992,800. The sale of a million bottles in the first nine months, which far exceeded any record ever made by a proprietary medicine, now seems insignificant.

"One firm alone," said Mr. G. F. Willis, the international distributor of Tanlac, "has given orders for a total of 156,000 bottles within eighteen months' time. The firm I refer to is the Spurluck-Neal Co., of Nashville, Tenn. Mr. C. S. Martin, president of this great firm, who is also president of the Southern Drug Jobbers' Association, will verify this statement."

"Tanlac is the result of many years of arduous study by Mr. Cooper and his principal chemist. In fact, the two of them have carefully watched its development from the beginning of the experimental stage to its present state of efficiency. So remarkable have been the results obtained from this medicine that I doubt seriously if either of these men realize the immensity of their success. Like many other great discoveries, it has required time to prove its far-reaching effects."

RETURNED SOLDIER TO CONTEST ISLAND SEAT

Major Burde, M. C., to Run as an Independent for Alberni

Although it has been popularly supposed and hinted at in these columns, it is understood that Major R. J. Burde, M. C., reached a decision as late as the week-end to become a candidate in the forthcoming by-election to fill the vacancy in the Alberni constituency occasioned by the untimely death of Richard P. Wallis.

The Major has announced his intention to take the field as a returned soldier, as quite independent of all political parties. In reply to a query regarding the significance of a report to the effect that he would probably receive the support of the Conservatives on account of a previous identification with their district organization, Major Burde declared that he knew nothing of the source of the inspiration of the report.

Very naturally, added the Major, he would be pleased to receive the support of both Liberals and Conservatives, but he would neither seek nor accept any such support except on the distinct understanding that it would in no way commit him to party obligations.

On the first opportunity which presented itself to meet the electors Major Burde said he would make his position perfectly clear and unmistakable, and a preliminary announcement along such lines will be made in an early issue of The Port Alberni News, with which Major Burde is associated.

LAID TO REST TO-DAY

Late Sister Mary Josephine of St. Joseph's Hospital Victim of Epidemic.

Private funeral services for the late Sister Mary Josephine, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on Sunday morning after a long illness contracted during the course of her duties as chief operating nurse, took place at 11 o'clock. Rev. Father Letourneau solemnized requiem mass, assisted by Rev. Father Schoelen of St. Ann's, and Rev. Father Vulliamy of St. Joseph's. The remains were laid to rest in the Sister's plot at Ross Bay Cemetery, the pallbearers being, M. Lawless, J. L. Ford, J. Cox and P. Tourigny.

The late Sister Mary Josephine came from her native country, Belgium, ten years ago, and after going through her novitiate training at St. Ann's Academy entered the hospital. She was for a time head of a ward, and five years ago was appointed head nurse of the operating theatre. At the time of her death she was twenty-eight years of age.

WAS LEADING HIS MEN IN RUSH FOR GUN MACHINE GUN

Sergeant Henry Sivertz Would Have Been Again Recommended for Decoration

Letters written from officers of his battalion and from a soldier under his command who was wounded at the time Sergeant Henry Sivertz was killed in action bear testimony to the fighting qualities and noble character of the young Victoria hero who before his death in action had won a Military Medal with two bars. His gallant leadership in the rush for an enemy machine gun would have won further recognition, according to one of the letters, had not a sniper's bullet put an end to his brilliant career.

Never Met Braver Man.

In a letter in which he describes the circumstances under which Sergeant Sivertz met his death, Lieut. L. A. Goodship, officer in charge of the platoon in which the young soldier was sergeant, states that he had never met a braver man. To the parents—the officer writes:

"As officer in charge of the platoon to which your late son Henry belonged I am writing to you to express my sympathy in your bereavement and to offer you what consolation I can for the loss of a man who I feel sure was as good a son as he was a soldier. "The fact that Henry had just been awarded a second bar to his military medal makes it unnecessary for me to mention what kind of a soldier he was. I never met a braver man. Had he lived through this scrap I should have recommended him again, for at the time he was killed he was going ahead with all his usual dash and fearlessness. "He was trying to rush an enemy machine gun which was holding up the advance when a sniper shot him through the head, and he died without ever knowing he was hit. He was buried in a battalion cemetery the following day. "Your loss, sir, is more severe than mine, but I shall never get another sergeant like him, and I will never meet a finer man."

Died Gallantly

Lieut. Howe Hewlett, writing to the parents, says: "I feel some how that you would like to hear from one of Henry's friends, and hope others beside myself have written you. Poor Henry was a fine soldier, and a very Christian gentleman. He died gallantly in action, with no suffering. Such an end all soldiers would wish for. If it had to be I regret deeply the loss of my friend and comrade, but it is really a relief. His life was God-like, his influence for good wonderful, his rest assured, and in death his face was as peaceful as if just asleep. I have had the good fortune to know your sons well, as their sergeant, company sergeant-major and battalion sergeant-major, and I assure you they are sons you may well be very, very proud of."

"Dear Mrs. Sivertz, I feel deeply for you and yours in your sadness, but I trust you may find comfort in knowing that there was no more popular man in the battalion, and he was the only man to have two bars to his M. M."

A Soldier's Tribute.

At McKinnon, writing to his own parents in Victoria before he was wounded at the same time that Sergt. Sivertz was killed, expresses himself in the following terms: "Sergt. Henry Sivertz, absolutely one of the best. Of course they are all the best. He is a dandy. Victorious by birth; holds the Military Medal and has grit from head to toe and the most modest beggar one could wish for, and then some."

DIED ON SUNDAY

Lieut.-Col. Drummond, of Indian Army, Succumbs After Lingering Illness; Came Here Recently.

After a lingering illness, Lieut.-Col. Arthur Berkeley Drummond, of the Political Department of the Indian Army, passed away on Sunday at his residence, 1780 Hampshire Road. Forty-eight years of age, the late officer was the son of Canon Arthur Hislop Drummond, of Boyne Hill Vicarage, Maidenhead, England. He married Miss Edith Charlotte Foley Lambert, sister of Rear-Admiral Sir Lionel Foley Lambert, R. N., of Greenhill, Redditch, England, and had two sons. The elder was killed at the battle of the Somme when a lieutenant in the Imperial army, and the younger has just passed into the Royal Navy from Osborne College.

On account of illness he had been granted furlough from his duties and had resided in Victoria for the past five months, hoping to regain his health.

Two cousins of deceased reside in this city, Philip Griesley Cox, of Beach Drive, and Ernest Drummond Cox, of the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery.

The remains are reposing at the B. C. Funeral Chapel, pending the receipt of instructions from England.

FIRST CONTINGENT MEN KILLED AS GREAT FIGHT ENDS

Heroes Who Have Helped Big Victory Fall at Dawn of Peace

BATTLE SCARED VETERAN AND GALLANT FLYER

Simultaneously with the glad news which caused the rejoicing crowds to assemble at Beacon Hill Park for the most exuberant celebration ever held, the arrival of the dreaded telegram from Ottawa announcing the death or wounding of some of their loved ones in France will probably continue to arrive for some days at homes in Victoria whose sons and husbands were sharing in the last stages of the greatest struggle in history. Sadder of all these cases is that of the veterans who for years have been braving the perils of the fighting, and then when victory is in sight made the supreme sacrifice without seeing the successful conclusion to the struggle in which they have borne so noble a part. The first of these cases arose yesterday at the time the people of the city of Victoria were preparing for the big demonstration, news was received by friends in the city that Corporal Jack Scott, after four years service, during which time he has been four times wounded, was killed in action.

Four Times Wounded.

Corporal Scott has many friends in Victoria where he was License Inspector before he responded to his country's call in the early part of the war, and went overseas and to the trenches with the 16th Canadian Scottish. Fighting with the killed battalion that has so ably shared in the strenuous work that has brought about the final victory, he has seen service on the various fronts, and in the many successive battles his unit has taken part in since he went overseas, except for a period he spent in the Canadian Record Office in London, when convalescing from one of his four wounds. When he was wounded again in the heavy duties of trench warfare he rejoined his battalion again and later fell in the great campaign.

A Fighting Family.

Especially sad is the news of Corporal Scott's death, when he could look forward to returning with the triumph of the army, in view of the fact that the family has already paid a heavy toll of war. Two have been killed on the fields of France, and two other brothers died in the South African campaign.

The Day Before.

A similar case is that of Lieutenant Arthur D'O Rochfort, who was also one of the men who left in August, 1914, and whose death is reported the day before hostilities ceased. He too, is a member of a fighting family, and one of five brothers who have seen service and been wounded in the present war. He had won a Military Cross for his gallant service in the Royal Air Force, and had once been invalided to Victoria. After an attack of rheumatism he returned to England at his own expense to get to the scene of action as speedily as possible. He first left Victoria with the draft of the 50th Gordon Highlanders in August, 1914, but on that occasion never reached the scene of action on account of the rheumatism which he contracted en route. On his return to Canada he joined the B. C. Horse, but impatient to get to the firing line he obtained permission of the General Officer Commanding Military District No. 11, to proceed to England and secured a commission in the Royal Field Artillery.

Won Military Cross.

He served for fourteen months in Salonica, and took part in some heavy fighting during that time on the Macedonian front. For his own part in the fighting he was awarded the Military Cross. He later transferred to the Royal Air Force with which he served in Egypt, where he died the day before the fighting ceased. He was only twenty years of age and the greatest sympathy will be extended to his mother, Mrs. Rochfort, of Runnymede Avenue, in the death of her gallant son at such a time.

Signaller Wounded.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ackerman, 20 Lewis Street, have received information that their son, Signaller Wilfrid Ackerman, who was formerly employed in the Royal Bank of Canada, was wounded on October 11 in the arm. He is a native son of Victoria and left for overseas in April, 1917. He had been serving in France for a year with the artillery. He is not yet twenty-one years of age, his birthday falling on Christmas Day.

Three Fighting Brothers.

Pte. George Newlands, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Newlands, of Disillery House, Crieff, Scotland, who left Victoria with the 6th Battalion, Western-Scots, was killed in action on September 27. His brother and sister, who resides at 2826 Scott Street, Victoria, have just received the information from their home in Scotland. Two other brothers are still serving with the colors, Gordon W. Newlands having gone overseas with the 30th Battalion, and John Newlands with the Imperial Army in Mesopotamia.

INTER-CITY BATTLE

Contest for Quotas Reaches High Pitch as End of Drive Approaches.

With four more days in which the Victory Loan can be "put over," Victoria and Vancouver are straining to the utmost in the race for the quotas. The two cities are apparently still neck and neck as the finishing post looms up. Officials on both sides of the Gulf claim that they are not worrying about the final outcome of the race, but, nevertheless, they are looking eagerly to the daily returns.

"Despite the fact that Vancouver jumped ahead in the inter-city competition, says E. J. Down, Chairman of the publicity committee, "the Victoria executive of the Victory Loan campaign is not losing any sleep, nor is any undue anxiety felt on its part with respect to the final result of the competition."

JAPANESE TRAMP HERE FROM ORIENT

Kenkon Maru, No. 8, Was Formerly the British Steamer Verona

Twenty-four days out from Yokohama, the Japanese freight steamer Kenkon Maru No. 8, unexpectedly put in an appearance this morning with Oriental cargo for local consignees.

The vessel was half way up from quarantine before it was generally known by the port authorities that she was due to discharge cargo here. Her freight for this port, however, was unusually light for a trans-Pacific boat, the manifest showing but 125 tons for discharge here.

The total cargo carried by the Kenkon Maru amounts to 2,990 deadweight tons, the bulk of which will be delivered at Tacoma. It consists principally of tea, tin and sheep's wool.

Owned at Dairen.
Kenkon Maru No. 8 is owned by the Kaiko Kisei Kaisha, of Dairen, and is under time charter to the Osaka Shosen Kaisha. She was built at Hartlepool in 1899, and in her more palmy days she was known as the British steamer Verona, and incidentally was at one time operated by the famous British shipping concern, Furness, Withy & Co.

The vessel's dimensions are as follows: Length, 370 feet, beam, 51 feet, and depth, 39 feet, with a gross tonnage of 4,668 tons. Two years have elapsed since the Kenkon Maru No. 8 was last on this coast, she, on that occasion, having loaded cargo at Vancouver for Vladivostok. She has since been operating between Japanese ports and India, with occasional trips to Port Said.

Capt. M. Kaneko is in command. He reports fair weather for a winter run across the Pacific. After completing the discharge of her cargo at the Outer Docks, the tramp steamer left for Puget Sound.

Foundation Manager Says Peace Will Not Interfere With French Programme

Prompt denial of rumors to the effect that the wooden shipbuilding contract of the Foundation Co. might be affected by the cessation of hostilities in Europe is made by Bayly Hipkins, Pacific Coast Manager, who reached Victoria yesterday from New York via San Francisco and Seattle.

"Peace will in no way interfere with the programme in hand here" emphatically declared Mr. Hipkins when approached relative to the rumors.

With the signing of the armistice terminating the greatest war in the world's history the following telegram of congratulation was forwarded to Mr. Hipkins by Franklin Remington, president of the Foundation Company, from New York: "On the glorious occasion for which we have all worked so hard officers of the company send you their congratulations. We feel that whatever the company has done in helping to bring about this satisfactory outcome is due to the devotion and loyalty of yourself and others who have put over work entrusted to them and in doing it have maintained throughout the Foundation Company standards."

Since his arrival in the city yesterday morning Mr. Hipkins has been a particularly busy man. The greater part of the day he spent in conference with the heads of various departments and disposing of important matters pertaining to the operations of the company here.

He proposed to remain in the city for several days during which time the most pressing business incident to the company's shipbuilding operations here will receive his personal attention.

Good Organizations.
There will be no immediate appointment of a successor to H. E. Pickering, formerly manager of the Victoria yards, and who has been transferred to Savannah, Ga., Mr. Hipkins stating that the local plants are now on a well organized basis and capable of running along under the supervision of the superintendents.

Accompanying Mr. Hipkins on this trip is E. E. Jenkins, general purchasing agent for the Foundation Company, who expects to spend some time here.

RENFREW WRECKED CROSSING THE BAR

Nine Bodies of Fifteen Lost Have Been Recovered at Nitinat

Nine bodies of the fifteen cannery hands who lost their lives with the wrecking of the cannery launch Renfrew have been recovered. The remaining six bodies have been identified as Fred Paulsen, John Wedahl, E. Djonseth, John Pearson, E. Barrett, Louis Saunders, Hans Tollefson, Oscar Tomsen and one Chinaman.

E. Barrett, the only Victorian drowned, was formerly employed as a carpenter by the Foundation Company. He was born at Bedford, Eng., and came out to Canada six years ago. He leaves a wife and two children, residing on Phoenix Street.

Constable O'Hara, of the Provincial police, left last night on the Princess Maguinna for the scene of the wreck to take charge of the bodies and bring them to Victoria. It is likely that the bodies will be brought here on the cannery boat Bonita, Capt. S. Fraser, which is now at Nitinat.

Owing to poor telegraphic communication the Provincial Police have been unable to gather any definite information that might lead to the cause of the disaster. H. E. Van Froome, who was formerly employed by the Lummi Bay Packing Co., is of the opinion that the little fishing craft was overwhelmed by the big combers as she was making her way out of the narrow channel at the entrance to Nitinat Lake.

The combers, he says, break over the bar twenty feet high, and it would be impossible for anyone to live if precipitated into the seething waters. The cannery, operated by the Lummi Bay Packing Co., says Mr. Van Froome had closed down for the season, and the fishermen were returning to Victoria with their stake.

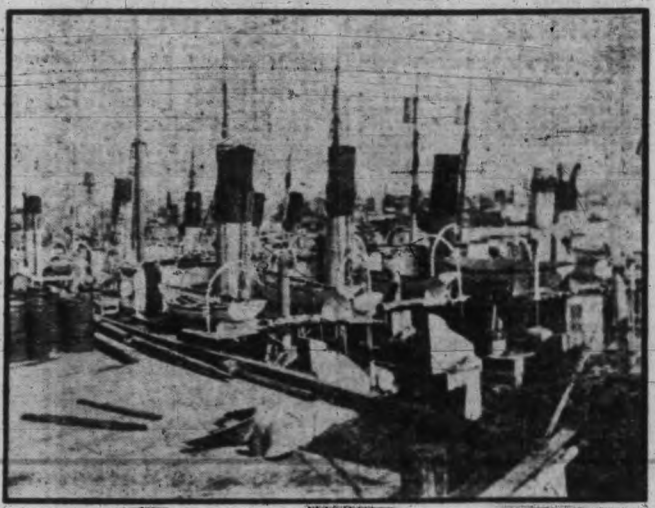

The bar is impossible to cross in bad weather.

VICTIMS OF SOPHIA ARRIVE ON ALICE

Wharf Shed Converted Into Temporary Morgue; Thirty-One Bodies Landed Here

With flags flying at half mast out of respect for the dead, the death ship Princess Alice arrived at the Belleville Street wharf about 3 o'clock this afternoon with the bodies of the local victims of the Princess Sophia disaster. At Vancouver this morning sixty-four bodies for that city were put ashore, the remainder of the 157 bodies being for Victoria, other parts of the Province and the United States. Thirty-one bodies are consigned to this city and twenty-four to Seattle. The Belleville Street wharf, where the Princess Alice docked, has been converted into a temporary morgue. For the purpose of identification, the immediate relatives and friends of the victims are to be admitted to the shed immediately the caskets have been transferred ashore and removed from the rough coffins.

Systematic arrangements have been made for the identification of the bodies, and everything possible is being done by the C. P. R. for the comfort of the sorrowing relatives and friends. The identification section has been draped with flags and crepe and furnished with plants and flowers. The coffins will be placed in alphabetical order and elevated from the floor of the wharf shed. On each casket the presumed name of the deceased and the address will be written to facilitate identification.

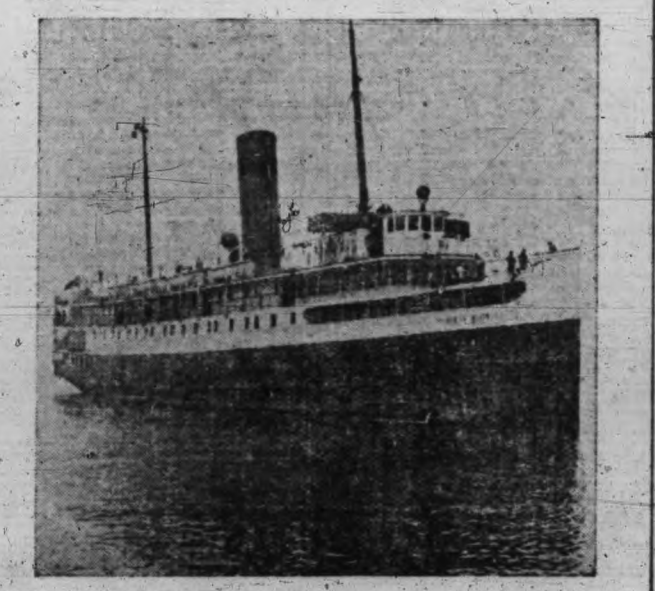

Of the 157 bodies conveyed by the Princess Alice from Juneau there are only seven remaining unidentified. These are bodies of three members of the crew of the Sophia, three Chinamen and one passenger. Following identification the bodies will be delivered only to relatives to take charge of or direct interment of bodies. Unidentified bodies will be kept as long as practicable to permit identification by relatives or friends.

ARRIVES WITH SOPHIA VICTIMS

S.S. PRINCESS ALICE.

DAUBS IN THE DEEP.

A hand-painted picture of the world under the sea!

It seems incredible that a man should be able to do such a thing. Of course we have become familiar with the cinema pictures of the denizens of the deep, but that is very different from the marvellous colored paintings of Mr. H. Pritchard.

The beginning of it was a boyish love of adventure. Young Pritchard, with several other English boys, tiring of ordinary swimming and diving, decided to improve the sport by sinking to the bottom, by means of weights, and seeing who could remain there longest. In this way Pritchard first saw the beauties of the bottom of the sea. All around him were trees, flowers, mountains and valleys, peopled with strange creatures, and all of the softest and most perfect shades of color.

Glass-Buttoned Boots.
These visits so fascinated him that he made himself a pair of water-tight goggles, so that he might study the landscape with more ease. When he returned to the surface he made a few sketches from memory.

Then Mr. Pritchard was stricken with pneumonia, and left England for California. There he met two American artists who were much interested in his under-sea sketches and encouraged him to continue them with the aid of glass-bottomed boats.

After seeing the extraordinary submarine beauties off the island of Tahiti he once more began his painting. But he was not satisfied and set to work to discover a way by which he might make his sketches while he was actually under the water.

After endless experiments, he at last succeeded in making waterproof paper, and by means of a piece of coral as a weight he could sink himself and his apparatus and remain at the bottom for thirty to forty-five seconds at a time. The best color mediums he found to be crayons and oil paints.—Tit-Bits.

JANUARY WILL SEE PUCKCHASERS BUSY

Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle Are Certain Starters

Pacific Coast hockey teams will start their championship series about January 1, a few days later than last season, and will play through until early in March, when the champions will clash with the Eastern titheholders in the annual world's series for possession of the historic Stanley Cup. President Frank Patrick, of the Coast League, states that the directors will probably get together the latter part of next week or earlier, if the quarantine ban is lifted. No definite word has been received concerning Portland's plans, but Vancouver, Seattle and Victoria are certain starters, and there is every likelihood of Portland again entering the race with the end of the war in sight.

Work of fitting up the Victoria Arena is progressing and it is expected that the plant will be open early in December. Seattle plans on opening the middle of next month and the Vancouver Arena will be open for skating just as soon as the "flu" epidemic abates and the closing order is rescinded.

Whether a double schedule or a schedule similar to last season's will be adopted by the P. C. H. A. this season will depend on the number of teams entered. The local amateur clubs are getting busy and expect to outline their plans next week. The Commercial and City Intermediate will operate again and there will also be a patriotic league in which some of the former ice stars will compete.

BRITISH SPORTSMEN ARE FOR HIGHEST IDEALS

Baseball is going "over the top" in England, a country which has ever been conservative about embracing an alien sport. But the British represents the highest ideals of sportsmanship, and when the sport of another country passes its acid test, he gladly takes it over, says a writer in The Seattle Times.

The Anglo-American League has been so successful that plans have already been made to start a professional league as soon as the war ends.

To that end major league players now in England will be offered contracts to play baseball in England for one season, before returning to America. The new organization will take in London, Manchester, Sheffield, Birmingham, Leeds, Glasgow and Edinburgh. Two clubs will play in London.

The Anglo-American League this year has played more than 150 games. The game at Stamford Bridge, July 4, which was attended by the King, drew 40,000 persons. In August the naval team from the American headquarters played a Canadian team before 25,000 spectators.

Attendance at Saturday games ran from 3,000 to 10,000. The league has more than paid its way, and it is expected it will turn $10,000 to $15,000 over to war charities after all expenses have been paid. The United States navy team has for its star pitcher Herb Pennock, the former Athletic and Red Sox pitcher. Outfielder McNally is also with the team, which is destined to win the championship.

TROEH LEADS RACE FOR HIGH AMATEUR AVERAGE

Frank M. Troeh, of Vancouver, Wash., the fellow who shoots at the clay targets with a $15 gun that has been used for twenty years, is now on top in the race for high average amateur among the trap-shooters. Troeh has averaged 3771 on about 6,000 targets, according to official figures of the Interstate Trapshooting Association.

Troeh this season has won the doubles championship of the United States and Canada, the singles trapshooting championship of Washington and the international trapshooting championship. Present indications are that he will be high average amateur. Troeh's performances this year have been remarkable. Troeh is the only amateur above 37 per cent.

Homer Clark leads the professionals with 3752. Clark is the professional champion. Rush Raze, the great Nebraska shot, has an even 97 per cent. O. N. Ford has shot at more targets than any other shooter—8,570.

"HAPPY" HOLMES

That Harry ("Happy") Holmes, the star goalie of the Seattle hockey team of two years ago, will be back with the Metropolitan this season, is the report that comes from the East. Holmes played with the Eastern Blue Shirts last season, but is the property of the Pacific Coast League and is expected to return to the West this winter, according to an Eastern Canada paper.

PREPARING BASEBALL FOR WHEN BOYS RETURN

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 12.—Leading baseball officials of the various leagues arrived in Peoria today for the opening session of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, which was called to order here at 1 o'clock today. With the war over, the baseball leaders see chances for a big season, particularly among the minor leagues next year.

Much important work is scheduled for this meeting. A complete reorganization of minor league baseball will be needed, it is thought.

PLAYED TWELVE TIMES AS AN INTERNATIONAL

Famous Rugby Man Killed;
Other Sportsman in Casualty List

London, Nov. 12.—To the long list of rugby internationals who have fallen in the war must now be added Lieut. W. R. Sutherland, the famous Warwick and Scottish three-quarter. He had the fine record of being twelve times chosen to play for Scotland in the representative games between 1910 and 1912. He was in the Scottish team against England in 1910-11-12-13, against Ireland in 1911-12-13, and against Ireland in 1913. Three times he figured in the ranks of Scotland against France, and in 1913 against South Africa.

Lieut. Gilbert Atkinson, the famous golfer, has died of wounds. He was honorary secretary of the Northumberland Union of Golf Clubs and secretary of the city of Newcastle Golf Club.

Lieut. C. H. Ellicott, killed, was in the Rugby fifteen at Uppingham College.

CHAMPION OF TRACK WINS ANOTHER EVENT

New York, Nov. 12.—Charles Pores, Pelham Bay Naval Training station, the national ten and five-mile champion runner, won the service cross-country run of the Metropolitan Amateur Athletic union over the six-mile course at Vancourtland Park here on Saturday. His time was 33:15.

James Henigan, of Boston, running for the Fort Slocum Army team, finished second, ten yards behind Pores, and J. Nully, of Fordham University, was third.

TWO SOCCER LEAGUES IN SWING SATURDAY

Intermediate League Will Open
When Seniors Resume Schedule

With most of the teams entered in the Victoria and District Football League turning out for friendly games last week the resumption of the league schedule next Saturday at the point where it was temporarily abandoned on account of the epidemic being rife among the players, should see the league going strong again. In addition this season, and with plans ahead for an island inter-city league and arrangements for a football week yet to be made, the local league officials will have their hands full.

The Intermediate League Secretary Hill states that to even up the fixtures and to do away with the necessity of a bye in the competition each week he is still open to receive another entry for the intermediate league. Up to the present, Victoria Military Hospital at Esquimalt, Yarrow, Imperial Munitions Board, Foundation, and Garrison are the clubs after the second league trophy.

Brown Cup.
Entries close tonight for the Victoria competition in the H. H. Brown Service Cup games. Garrison, Yarrow, Imperial Munitions Board, Foundation, and Garrison are the clubs after the second league trophy.

TRAPSHOOTER SUCCUMBS FROM DOUBLE PNEUMONIA

Vancouver, Nov. 12.—Harry R. Cramer, one of the best-known trapshooters in the Northwest, and for many years a leading member of the Vancouver Gun Club, passed away at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the family residence, a victim of double pneumonia, following an attack of influenza.

The deceased was about forty years of age, and is survived by a wife and four children. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock from Harron Bros. parlors, corner of Eighth Avenue and Granville Street.

The passing of genial Harry Cramer has caused widespread regret in local sporting and business circles. He was a traveling representative for Christie, Brown & Co., and had only returned from a trip a week ago when stricken with influenza, and pneumonia developed rapidly. Prior to making his headquarters in Vancouver, the late Mr. Cramer was a resident of Nelson, where he conducted a sporting goods establishment. He was interested in all branches of sport, and one of the best trapshooters on the coast, having taken part in all international and local tournaments for many years past.

ALASKAN DOG DERBY HAS BEEN ABANDONED

New York, Nov. 12.—The wide-fung sweep of the world war in its relation to sport has penetrated beyond the Arctic Circle and the classic dog derbies have been abandoned until the return of normal times and conditions. The long distance races, the sledging and the snow trails of the Seward peninsula, have been canceled, according to the plans of the Nome Kennel Club. Thus the winter will pass without either the All-Alaska sweepstakes, or the Solomon sweepstakes, both formerly big events on the Alaska sport calendar. Last winter only the Solomon race was held.

The All-Alaska prize money of last year, together with the purses for this year's race, will be given to the Red Cross or some other war work fund. Although the big races are abandoned, dog drivers remaining in Nome for the winter will hold several short informal race meets during the long dark months coming.

WANT TED LEWIS TO VISIT UNITED STATES

New York, Nov. 12.—Efforts are now being made by the local boxing committee to procure a furlough from army duties for Ted Lewis, of England, welterweight champion, who is undergoing a course of bayonet instruction at Camp Gordon, Ga. Lewis is tentatively matched to box Soldier Bartfield, of Brooklyn, in one of the principal bouts at the United War Work campaign show in Madison Square Garden, November 16.

The fact that the British boxer was entering upon a career as a camp boxing instructor was not generally known until today, when Charles J. Harvey, his manager, made the announcement.

HEAVYWEIGHT WAS DUE ON RECIPROCAL DRAFT

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Tom Cowler, British heavyweight pugilist, is included in the November quota of men to be sent to camp from this city, according to a list published Sunday. He is called under the reciprocal draft arrangement of the United States and Great Britain.

Baltimore, Nov. 12.—"Andy" Schuttiner, a wee bit of a lad, received $13 a second for riding Elliott to victory in a special match race with Billy Kelly for the two-year-old championship.

The race was six furlongs and the time 1:12. James W. McElford, the owner, paid "Andy" a riding fee of $1,000, the highest since racing came back in 1913.

Seattle, Nov. 12.—Elmer Henderson, a well-known high school athletic instructor, was today named head coach for the University of Washington football team.

PLAY PING PONG.

Paris, Nov. 12.—One sport that has been neglected in the United States in recent years is having a big increase in France. This is ping pong. The American soldier perhaps wouldn't impress one as a ping pong fiend nor have the Germans had any reason to believe him addicted to this gentle pastime, but he does play the game in barracks and huts when the weather is bad outdoors.

THE SAME COMPLAINT.

The new doctor had a lot to say about his cricket, and the committee of the local club decided to include him in the next match. His innings was not brilliant. He went out first ball to not brilliant, from the demon bowler, whom he evidently feared.

"A demon bowler that, sir," remarked the man whose turn it was to go next, as he met him striding towards the pavilion.

"Oh, not at all," answered the doctor airily. "Quite ordinary. I assure you, I could have batted till Doomsday, but I'm suffering from an attack of traumatic neurasthenia and I'm a bit off my play this afternoon."

The other man proceeded to the wicket, but, unfortunately, he also was out first ball.

"What on earth were you doing to let a simple ball like that beat you?" asked the doctor, when he also had returned.

"I don't know," was the reply, "but I'm not quite myself to-day. I'm suffering from the same complaint as you, sir; only we call it blue funk in these parts."—TIT-BITS.

canoped the operation by standing around with our coats outstretched. Everything was done with quickness and quietude. The two head cases soon reappeared (seemingly better already). A reserve stretcher-bearer came forward to take the padre's place.

Then away westward went the little party, while Elliot and I resumed our journey in the opposite direction. What a thrill (a little later) one received from the pouncing sentry! How grimly real his death-dealing attitude while hissing (voices clearly must not be raised) the challenge! Here was one of those nerve centres of war where it would be more excusable to shoot a friend than spare a foe.

We pushed through an entrance way in the thick walls of a little cement fort (answering to the pet name of Pill-box) that had been captured from our pains-taking foes. The thing suggested an ugly square rock with the centre blasted out. In that centre we found a cluster of some half-dozen young officers, seated in close association, with maps, scientific instruments, and sundry beverages. They included our major (who, it seemed, called to us, but thought answered and had assumed we were following).

It was easy to see that the military situation continued tense. The O. C. simultaneously issued instructions and bade us take off our tin hats and have something to drink.

"You've chosen rather a lively day for your visit," he presently found leisure to inform me.

An hour had not elapsed, it seemed, since a shell burst outside the little fort, blowing a subaltern through the doorway into the interior, and extinguishing all the lights there. Moreover, a sergeant now entered to announce the arrival of a man badly wounded—and in danger of bleeding to death.

Elliot at once slipped out, and I followed him.

How cold and ghostly was the outside world after our brief sojourn in the pill-box interior. The frosty vapour contained dim figures stooping around

THOSE ANONYMOUS WRITERS.

Most public men contrive to hear in silence the annoyance inflicted by anonymous correspondents, and Mr. Lloyd George's recent outburst on the subject is a striking exception to the general rule.

The late Dr. Joseph Parker invariably alleged that he never read anonymous letters directed to him. He made one exception, however, when, after a particularly venomous onslaught on him by a newspaper, a member of the Church of England was induced thereby to visit the City Temple and subsequently to send the pastor an anonymous letter of thanks and a Bank of England note for £100. Dr. Parker told the story to his congregation on the Sunday following, and invited those present to pray that the newspaper might continue its attacks and the Church of England gentleman keep on responding.

On another occasion Dr. Parker was assailed in the newspapers for provoking "loud laughter" among his hearers at a service in the City Temple by his realistic representation of Aaron explaining to Moses the manufacture of the Golden Calf. His critic wrote a letter to a certain paper and signed it "A. C." his real initials, though to the public the letter was "virtually anonymous." Dr. Parker, like Mr. Gladstone when occasion served, was "terrible on the rebound," and he responded with a letter that concluded: "Your correspondent must be a fellow of infinite wit, for, having attacked me on the subject of Aaron's Calf, he signs himself 'A. C.'—TIT-BITS."

Description: When last seen was on his way to hospital. Used to weigh 185, had florid complexion, good appetite and enthusiasm for work. Six months ago began to have irregular bowel movements. Took pills. Lost weight—still irregular. Took salts—violent results. Had medical examination; doctor diagnosed case as self-poisoning, due to clogged, decaying food-waste in large intestine; said pills and purges had weakened the intestinal muscles so they would not function. Man protested violently that he was not sick. Doctor replied that he had been sick since first bowel irregularity. Prescribed complete rest and the Nujol treatment. Said if he had cultivated regular habits with Nujol he would have had no more trouble—now, however, he was an easy mark for the poisoning he was allowing in his own body.

GERMAN TROOPS TO MESSAGE TO CANADA

Evacuation West of Rhine Will Affect About 20,000 Square Miles
Sovereign Says British Empire More Firmly United Than Before War

London, Nov. 12.—Concerning the evacuation by the Germans of the left bank of the Rhine, it is pointed out here that pending final adjustment of the boundary the Germans will be required to relinquish control not only of Lorraine, but the remainder of Germany west of the Rhine. This territory is 20,000 square miles in extent, with a population of about 2,000,000. It includes some of the most important mining and milling districts of Germany, and such great centres as Cologne and Essen, the site of the Krupp works. The territory west of the Rhine consists of Alsace-Lorraine, the Palatinate, the Rhine Province, Hesse, and about one-third of the Rhine Province. The largest of the districts involved. That province contains great coal and metal deposits and some of the largest iron and steel manufacturing centres of Germany. There are also textile industries on a great scale as well as extensive farming and wine-growing regions. The most important cities are Cologne, Essen, Düsseldorf, Bonn and Aix-la-Chapelle. It is the most westerly province of Prussia, by which it was acquired in 1816.

Next in size is Alsace-Lorraine. Its annexation to France, its mother country, has been one of the chief points upon which the Allies have insisted in outlining their terms. Its area is 5,000 square miles. The principal towns are Metz, Strassburg, Mulhouse and Kolmar. It contains the great iron district of Briey, one of the principal sources of German supply, and extensive coalfields. Its textile industries are among the most important in Germany. Palatinate is part of Bavaria, which acquired it in 1815. It is 2,379 square miles in extent and has a population of about 950,000. It is chiefly a farming and wine growing country, although there are some large manufacturing industries. The capital is Speyer.

Birkenfeld is a principality belonging to, although detached from, the Grand Duchy of Oldenburg. The total area of the Grand Duchy of Hesse, about one-third of which lies west of the Rhine, is 2,965 square miles and its total population 1,300,000. The capital of Hesse, which is on the bank of the Rhine, is Mainz, one of the principal fortresses of Germany.

Evacuation by the enemy of this territory also frees from German control the nominally important Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, invaded by Germany at the beginning of the war.

U. S. CONGRESSMEN APPROVE ARMISTICE TERMS OF ALLIES

Washington, Nov. 12.—Unanimous approval of the armistice terms imposed on Germany by the Allies is voiced by Congressmen. Unconditional surrender is the interpretation of most of the Senators and representatives, although some express disappointment that demobilization of the German armies was not required. Sentiment for punishment of those responsible for murders and other atrocities also is voiced.

President Wilson's suggestion in his address informing Congress of the armistice terms, that the victorious nations extend aid to the peoples of the Central Powers in their efforts for self-government and to prevent them from further suffering for want of food and other necessities of life also is commended.

WET WASH ECONOMY LAUNDRY

Statement That Taxation Would Continue Dampened Bullish Ardor
(By Burdick Bros. & Brett, Ltd.)
New York, Nov. 12.—The market started off in an orderly manner this morning. The professional element waiting to take the side which they felt safest on new events. They found their opportunity when a statement was made by Secretary McAdoo that it would be necessary for the American people to prepare for further heavy taxation and more liberal loans. Stocks were easily depressed and the market was allowed to take its own course. A lot of long stock came on the market from sources that expected a sudden rise on the advent of peace and who were disappointed. No class showed any particular weakness over the others. Mexican Petroleum, however, lost ten points from the opening.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON WINNIPEG MARKET
Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—The market was very quiet on the local exchange to-day. Oats closed 1/2 cent higher for December and 1/2 cent lower for May. Barley closed unchanged for December, and May closed at 112. Flax closed 1/2 cent higher for November, 2 cents higher for December, and 2 1/2 cents higher for May.

GRAINS STRONG AT CLOSE TO-DAY
(By Burdick Bros. & Brett, Ltd.)
Chicago, Nov. 12.—The grain market was wild and changes were rapid for the first hour. Those who looked for a big break tried hard to press the advantage that they thought was theirs. The selling tactics bore the market down for a time, but strong rallies were made after every assault until the bears were glad to cover. Prices hardened right up to the close.

INFLUENZA AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—The toll of Spanish influenza in Winnipeg yesterday was 412 new cases and twenty-seven deaths. There is every probability that many of these cases should have been reported Sunday, for on Sunday only ninety-six new cases were recorded. One soldier succumbed to the malady yesterday.

VICTORY BONDS

An Investment Recommended By Every Bank In Canada
The only real difference between twenty $5 Government bills and a $100 Victory Bond is, that the Victory Bond pays 5 1/2% interest. The security is exactly the same. Behind both bills and bond are the total resources of the Dominion.

Leaving all sentiment aside, it would be impossible to find a more desirable investment than the new Victory Bonds.

REALISTIC TRENCHES AND DUGOUT.

Which have been the means of appealing to the pockets of the people of Victoria for Victory Bonds, as an illustration of the conditions faced by the Canadians overseas.

HIGH SPIRITS AT VETERANS' DUGOUT OVER GREAT NEWS

Victory Bond Total is Rapidly Nearing $1,000,000

CELEBRATIONS CAUSE RUSH OF BUSINESS

Peace celebrations have helped business at the Veterans' Dugout. The scene on the corner of Fort Street and Government Street, which has attracted thousands during the Victory Bond campaign, was busier than at any other time during yesterday morning, and the hardworking bond salesmen resisted all temptations to throw aside work, and join in the general rejoicings until the afternoon, when they all crowded into a car with Lieutenant J. E. Manning, the adjutant at Esquimalt

Military Hospital, and joined the crowds at Beacon Hill. Even then they had the megaphone on hand with an eye to business, and appealed to the people to visit the Dugout and "put up your dollars to bring the boys home from the trenches." Sgt. Faulkner was provided with a batch of Victory Bonds and a fountain pen and recorded the dollars to bring the boys back from the trenches in the assembly.

Nearly a Million.
The spirits of the workers are at a high pitch. The total recorded at the Dugout is $964,300, and the men are assured of their million dollars. The twenty thousand dollars worth recorded yesterday meant a lot of hard work as they were largely in the bonds of the smaller denomination made by hardworking people, and mothers who want their sons as husbands back as soon as possible. A rush of business this morning resulted in $12,000 worth of bonds being sold.

$300 For a Song.
Three hundred dollars was the price paid for listening to a song by "Mac" Baxter, Provincial Boiler Inspector. He called in the Dugout this morning, with an application already filled in for a $200 bond. The boys were rejoicing over the victory, and giving vent to their spirits in alleged music. "The good humor was infectious, and after a chat with the soldiers Mr. Baxter tore up his original application, and made one out for $300.

The Old Campaigner Was Stuck.
"Fighting Mac," who has become a popular figure of the Dugout during the Victory Bond drive has at last been stuck for an answer to one of the innumerable questions he has been called upon to answer. He has brought tears to the eyes of many as he has described the tragedies that have been enacted on the battlefields of Europe, and has then roused the visitors from their depressed moods to smiles again as he tells of some of the humors of the soldier's life. Questions which have seemed foolish to the old campaigner, he has patiently answered to anxious mothers or relatives, but during the celebration yesterday one lady offered a query to which he was unable to give an answer that was satisfactory. "Why did you let the Kaiser get away into Holland?" was the question put to him, and the lady apparently held Mac personally responsible. He was so nonplussed he could not even think of an answer couched in Victory Bonds.

A Mild Ghost.
Sgt. King is indulging in a mild ghost over a couple of bonds that have passed through the Dugout. "Do you remember a few days ago," he said, "something was published about a man declaring he had no use for Victory Bonds, and it would be a good thing if some Germans did get a foot in Canada; that too many Canadians had gone overseas and a lot of talk along those lines? Well, the matter was turned over to the military authorities. A veteran canvassed the man a few days later, and do you know what happened? He came away with the man's signature for a couple of $50 bonds. We are not throwing out the bonnets at ourselves, for what returned men can do in the way of raising Victory Bonds or any other line of work for that matter, but I thought you would like to know it because that is one of a lot of bonds that couldn't be counted on that the wounded men have put through."

and a request has been registered that the conclusion of hostilities two Hun machine guns be forwarded you as a presentation from this battalion.

The commanding officer trusts that this gift will be accepted in the spirit in which it is offered, as a token and lasting memorial to those citizen soldiers who have so gallantly sacrificed all for the cause of liberty and justice, and as an acknowledgment from the soldiers in the field to the fine citizenship at home which has made possible the Victory of today.

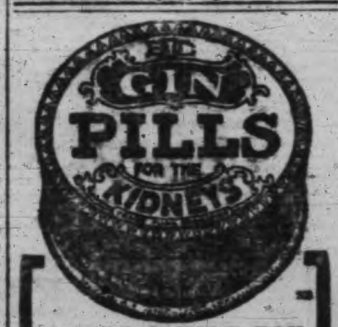

FORWARD CANADA! Should Be Watchword From Ocean to Ocean Says St. John Board of Trade.

"St. John Board of Trade unites with rest of Canada in rejoicing and thanking that victory has been won for the Allied cause and that the dark cloud of war which hung over the world has been forever dispelled. Forward Canada! Let this be the watchword from ocean to ocean."

The above is the wording of a telegram received from A. H. Wetmore, President of the St. John Board of Trade, by the Victoria Board of Trade. In his reply, President Joshua Kingham, heartily endorsed the sentiments expressed, and concluded as follows: "With the dawn of peace we can now give our undivided attention to plans for tangible recognition of the services of the returning men who have so gallantly protected our homes, and so far as is humanly possible, to those among us whose dear ones are left on the field of battle."

"Forward Canada" had a meaning all its own to our men when going over the top on some of the most critical occasions of the war. Let us emulate that spirit in this opportunity, the like of which probably will never again be offered us."

Ervin Christopher Rose, late of Thirty-fifth Avenue, Vancouver, died on Sunday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital in his fifty-sixth year. The remains will be forwarded by the B. C. Funeral Co. to Vancouver for interment, Mrs. Rose accompanying the body.

BAND WILL NOT BE RAISED ON PUBLIC MEETINGS FOR WEEK

Everything Must Remain Closed Until Results of Celebrations Are Known

MALE NURSES WANTED FOR INFLUENZA CASES

Not for a week yet will the ban on public meetings in Victoria on account of the epidemic of Spanish influenza be raised. A meeting of the Health Committee of the City Council, with Medical Health Officer Dr. Arthur G. Price in attendance, took place in Mayor Todd's office this morning, when the matter was discussed from all angles and the conclusion reached that it would not be wise to recommend the lifting of the ban in this city until sufficient time had elapsed to disclose whether or not the recent public gatherings in the streets to celebrate the signing of an armistice would result in a spread of the disease on a large scale.

It takes four days for the malady to develop after infection has taken place. The spirit of animation now prevailing among the people has resulted in a great number of inquiries being made as to when the ban will be lifted, and in view of the fact that Seattle has thrown off all restraint in this respect it has led to the impression that Victoria would follow suit.

Advices Caution.
So far as the city officials are concerned, however, everything will remain closed and all public gatherings of any sort will be banned for at least another week. It was stated this morning that it was considered advisable to keep everything shut down tight now in the hope of being entirely free of the malady at least before the Christmas holidays, rather than give the disease an opportunity for spreading by lifting the ban, and having to shut down again.

The total number of cases reported for Sunday and Monday was forty-nine. Up to noon to-day two doctors alone had turned in reports of thirty-eight new cases. For some days previous to last Thursday's celebration the average had been kept down to about twenty new cases a day.

Speaking of the work of taking care of the patients in the Isolation and Emergency Hospital on Fort Street, Dr. Price states that there is still a great demand for nurses. Many young ladies have volunteered for this service, and they have worked very hard and faithfully. The assistance of men who could do some of the heavier work around the institutions would be particularly welcome, and would serve to lessen the duties of the women nurses. "It has been suggested that those who have already suffered from the disease and who are not in danger of getting it again would be the most serviceable in assisting in this way. Volunteers are requested to communicate with the City Board of Health."

During the past month one hundred and five cases have been treated at the Isolation Hospital, and forty at the Fort Street institution.

THERE IS A LOT IN A NAME, SAYS SALESMAN

At Least He Sold a Bond Because He Was Not Named Mitchell

"What's in a name?" asked the poet, and he proceeded to explain that a rose by any other name would smell as sweet, indicating that, after all appellations are deceitful. H. T. Knott, a Victory Loan canvasser, questions this idea. It was a name, he claims, that sold a fat Victory Bond the other day.

"Are you the 'notorious Mitchell'?" demanded a lady of Mr. Knott the other day when he enquired if she would like to invest in her country. She evidently referred to A. E. Mitchell, famed among the Loan salesmen, the greatest of the local mother of Victory Bonds, as one lady Mr. Mitchell visited seems to consider herself. The idea!

It was not until six applications had been filled out, says Mr. Knott, and the salesman had signed his name that the significance of the Knott was discovered. "Oh, I see," said the lady, "you are Knott!"

ISLAND NEARING LAST TRENCH IN LOAN CAMPAIGN

The Qualicum's Win Honor Flag; Quota for Drive is Now Assured

ALL DISTRICTS RALLY AS HOSTILITIES CEASE

While Greater Victoria is advancing towards a $5,000,000 investment, the rest of the Island seems about to leap over the brink into the $1,000,000 trench which forms its objective of the Victory Loan campaign.

The Qualicum's together form the latest addition to circle of places which have achieved their quotas. The total investment for the Island outside Victoria so far stands at $300,000, according to G. H. Dawson, under whom most of the organizing of the outlying districts was carried out.

Returns continue to pour in from all up-island points, and as only $100,000 remains to be raised, the officials are confident that the ultimate objective will be reached quickly. Six centres have already qualified for Honor Flags and one place has already hoisted the bunting. The West Coast, too, has afforded the surprise of the drive, and has proved one of the most active and aggressive sectors in the whole Victory line.

The quota for the Qualicum's was set at $7,000 and, according to reports telephoned into headquarters this morning, $600 more than that has been raised in the district. The Qualicum section is the eighth district to win an Honor Flag and other centres are rapidly approaching the investments necessary to qualify for a similar honor.

Cassidy Carries On.
One of the most remarkable feats in the whole campaign was the manner in which the miners at the big Granby mine at Cassidy more than doubled the Loan quota set for them. Now comes the announcement that the Granby Company is mailing a further check for $5,000 in order to subscribe dollar for dollar with its employees. The workers invested something like $20,000, so that the total investment for the district now stands at about $41,000. The Honor Flag allotment was originally set at $15,000, so that Cassidy has qualified for a large and brilliant group of crowns to its flag.

Cobble Hill Supreme.
The record of Cassidy is only surpassed by that of Cobble Hill which last year invested $1,000 and which this year subscribed $7,500, though the quota was only set at $3,000. Alberni, though very seriously afected by the influenza epidemic, is rallying to the loan during the closing days of the drive and other districts from which rather small results were anticipated, are now rapidly mounting the Victory ladder.

WOUNDED VETERANS ON THEIR WAY HOME

Big Party En Route From Battlefields in Time for Christmas

C. Clearing Depot, Halifax, to this effect. With the cessation of hostilities anxious relatives in Victoria will be eagerly looking forward for the return of men lying wounded in hospital in England for Christmas, and now able to be brought across the seas with that safety, previously not assured. The local men returning are: Lieut. E. E. Bradford, Hilltop Cottage, Roseberry Avenue; Pte. C. L. Brass, Quadra Apts., Fort Street; Pte. S. F. Cole, 1036 Caledonia Avenue; Pte. T. H. Hodgson.

A letter to this effect has been received by Mayor Todd, which reads as follows: "The commanding officer and officers of the 102nd Canadian Infantry Battalion in the field have the honor to inform you that it is the unanimous desire of all ranks that certain trophies of war captured during the past few months be presented to the different cities and towns of Canada which are most conspicuously represented in the commissioned, non-commissioned and other ranks of this battalion."

CANADIANS INVEST UNDER EASY TERMS IN THEIR COUNTRY

Present System of Buying
Bonds Works No Hardship
on Citizens

Though Victoria has only four more days to reach her $5,000,000 objective, the officials of the Victory Loan campaign claim that there are still a large number of citizens who remain ignorant of the exact details of the purchase of Bonds. This is particularly deplorable in view of the fact that many people who do not understand the several different ways of investment are really able to increase their subscriptions utilizing the easy installment plan. If a person can buy $100 worth of bonds outright, the officials point out, then he should be able to buy $200 on the installment plan meeting the payments during a period of three months.

The Three Methods.

There are three methods of buying bonds.

The first and most simple method is by paying cash in full when the application is made out, and so saving further trouble.

Another way is to pay ten per cent. cash, and the balance in four monthly installments, in the terms set out in the official prospectus. The payments under this plan must be made as follows:

Twenty per cent. on December 6, 1918; 20 per cent. on January 6, 1919; 20 per cent. on February 6, 1919; $1.16 per cent. on March 6, 1919. The last payment of $1.16 per cent. covers 30 per cent. balance of principal and 1.16 per cent. representing accrued interest at 5 1/2 per cent. from November 1 to due dates of the respective installments.

The Easiest Way.

The third and easiest method to the thrifty, however, would appeal to the average citizen more than any other, but it seems that the majority of the people do not yet appreciate its numerous advantages. Through any branch of a chartered bank in Canada, the applicant for Victory Bonds in gives ten months to complete payments, and no limit is set to the amount of Bonds that may be purchased.

Under this advantageous arrangement payments are made on $50 bonds at the rate of $5 a month, during a period of nine months, $5 having been deposited on application. On $100 Bonds the payments are $10 monthly, and the $500 Bonds call for $50 payments each month.

Thus almost any person is enabled to buy bonds, paying for them during a period of ten months. This system enables persons who have purchased under the other plans to increase their shares in their country.

SCOTSMAN PROVES CAREFUL INVESTOR

Was Not Taking Any Chances
With Investment in Victory Loan

A man whose accent betrayed his early association with the Land of the Heather came into the Victory Loan office on Thursday the day when the armistice was premature and it had been signed—and bought a Bond. There was nothing surprising about this except that, as a Scot, he had justly or unjustly bore a reputation for consummate business shrewdness. He had two sons at the front, and a practical demonstration of his patriotism and willingness to espouse the cause of the Allies.

Chairman of Publicity E. J. Down encountered the burly Scot. "He was not rich," said Mr. Down, "nor poor either. Sort of medium, you understand, and very careful of his money. As he has not the happy knack of seeing his life as it is, he'll never recognize my description."

Reckless Investment.

The Scottish investor threw down a wad of bills on the counter in a most reckless manner. "Two bonds, please," he said. "There's the money." He never even counted the roll.

"I ran into a snag," said Mr. Down, "when I tried to show him the varying advantages of the Coupon-Bear Bond over the Registered Bond, and vice versa. He rather liked the idea of having a Coupon-Bearer Bond because he could easily and speedily turn it into money, but he shuddered at the thought of the possibility of losing the document, and thereby losing the protection that a Registered Bond would afford."

Mr. Down then endeavored to show why he should take another bond or two on the easy installment plan, which could be arranged with any bank. This, he pointed out, would allow him ten months to make his payments, and at the end of that period he would have another $50 or $100 saved by using money he might otherwise spend. Eventually he bought a Registered Bond.

Doubled Investment.

The next day Mr. Down was gratified to learn that this Scottish visitor had returned and taken another bond on the installment plan. Subsequently meeting the thrifty investor on the street Mr. Down got into conversation with him.

The Scotsman chuckled as he told the loan official that he had invested the money because he knew it was safe, and because he would be reaping a profit of five and a half per cent. He had given two sons to the cause of civilization, and he thought he had done his bit. But when he could lend to his country with such advantage to himself he, well, he was going to speculate for once in his life. He had intended to buy $100 at first, but by the installment plan he could just as easily take $200. He would be able to meet the payments in such easy terms as would not inconvenience him at all. In any case, every month he would save the money required for payments, and it might as well be bringing in interest as depositing in a convenient stock.

EX-KAISER'S EFFIGY BURNT ON MT. TOLMIE

Patriotic Gathering From Saanich District Held
High Revel

While jollification naturally centred within a comparatively limited area last night the residents of Mount Tolmie and the immediate vicinity gave vent to their feelings by treating an effigy of the ex-Kaiser to a foretaste of his hereafter. The industry of the boys of the University School during the major part of the day was rewarded by a colossal blaze which rapidly disposed of the Prussian dummy and rent the night air with its spurring flames, illuminating the whole district.

The highest point of Mount Tolmie was selected for the vantage ground and long before the hour set for the blaze many people from considerable distances gathered in anticipation of the event and were in waiting for the procession from the Normal School, headed by Reeve Borden and F. A. Pauline, M. P. P. for Saanich.

Speakers.

Tributes to the magnificent part played by the British navy and the Dominions within the empire were paid by Mr. Pauline, the Rev. W. W. Bolton, Warden of the University, and the Rev. Mr. Smith. The general ceremonial was in charge of A. E. Horner. The provincial member for Saanich referred to the sacrifices made by Canada in order that the world might be "made safe for democracy," emphasizing at the same time the bounden duty now devolving upon the Dominion in the proper care of the returned man. Nothing could be too good, he said, for the men who, because of their bravery in battle, their fortitude in suffering, and their cheerfulness at all times, had made it possible for the world to breathe the pure air of a lasting peace.

Beacons of Old.

Taking his hearers back through the centuries the Rev. Mr. Bolton saw in the bonfire symbol the reminder of another great occasion when the people of England kindled their beacon fires to warn the nation of the approach of the Spanish Armada, again to rekindle them when the proud galleons of Philip II were severely trounced by British tars and the Spanish King's ambitious scheme went astray. To-day, he said, bonfires were again burning to celebrate the defeat of another foe, who had set out with Britain as his particular object of conquest. To the people of the "tight littleisle" the reverend gentleman paid eloquent tribute and agreed that the full extent of their almost unbelievable sacrifices would perhaps not be known for many years to come.

The Silent Navy.

The great and glorious British navy had kept the sea lanes open, said the Rev. Mr. Smith, and had made possible the success of arms on land in so many quarters of Europe and Asia. The liberties of the world, said he, had been preserved largely by the magnificent watchful waiting of the silent fleet.

Splendid enthusiasm marked the whole proceedings and martial airs were supplied by the bugle band of the University Cadet Corps. Rousing cheers for Army and Navy and the lusty singing of the National Anthem rang out as the smouldering effigy of the ex-Kaiser collapsed into black ashes.

Her most priceless possession was stolen!
"Jewels?"—"No!" "Money?"—"No!"
"Bonds?"—"No!"
"Matches, I presume?"
